TRADITION LIVES ON

Before every Rutgers home game, the players and coaches take the SCARLET WALK on their way to the locker room. Fans line the walkway just to catch a glimpse of the Scarlet Knights as they touch the base of the statue commemorating the first college football game and honoring Rutgers as the BIRTHPLACE OF COLLEGE FOOTBALL.

"The Scarlet Walk is a great opportunity for fans to support the Rutgers Football program by sharing in one of our 'newest' traditions, while remembering and honoring one of our oldest. This is where college football began. Right here. It's important to keep that tradition alive." - Head Coach Greg Schiano

In addition, Schiano hosts a weekly radio show from his office in the Hale Center that can be heard throughout the New York/New Jersey area on 50,000 watt WOR-AM radio and on the internet through www.nj.com and Rutgers' official website, www.scarletknights.com. All of the exciting action of Rutgers football is carried by WOR (710 AM) in New York City, a 50,000-watt signal that beams Scarlet Knight game action to a 12-state region along the eastern seaboard. All games are also carried on the internet, allowing listeners from around the world to check in on the action. Chris Carlin and Tim Perneti handle the play-by-play and analysis duties, respectively, while Anthony Fucilli is the sideline reporter.

The BIG EAST has television agreements with ABC and ESPN that run through the 2007 season. Both agreements ensure that ABC or ESPN telecasts a BIG EAST game virtually every week of the year.

ESPN Regional Television owns broadcasting rights for all telecasts not assigned to ABC or ESPN. ERT, which took over for the BIG EAST Network in 1996, produces and distributes additional games, including a BIG EAST Game of the Week, through syndication, local markets and pay-per-view.

The BIG EAST league champion will attend the Tostitos Fiesta, FedEx Orange, Nokia Sugar or Rose Bowls as part of its membership in the Bowl Championship Series.

In addition to the Bowl Championship Series, the BIG EAST Conference currently has agreements with three other postseason bowl games. The league is associated with the Toyota Gator Bowl, Insight Bowl and Meineke Car Care Bowl for the 2005 season.

The Toyota Gator Bowl, played in Jacksonville, Fla., will select a team from the BIG EAST after the Bowl Championship Series accepts the conference champion. The BIG EAST choice will be matched up against the second selection from the Atlantic Coast Conference. The Toyota Gator Bowl will be played on January 1, 2006 and will be televised by NBC.

The Insight Bowl will choose a team from the BIG EAST for the eighth year in a row. That game will be played at Bank One Ballpark in Phoenix, Ariz. on December 27 on ESPN. The contest will match a BIG EAST choice against a selection from the Pacific-10 Conference.

The BIG EAST will send a team to Charlotte, N.C. for the fourth consecutive season. The league member will play in the Meineke Car Care Bowl on December 31 on ESPN2. The Atlantic Coast Conference will also provide the opposition.

All four bowl games will choose from among the group of BIG EAST bowl-eligible teams. Finish in the conference standings does not determine bowl selection.

The BIG EAST and the University of Notre Dame have an agreement which allows Notre Dame the opportunity to be selected by the Toyota Gator Bowl, Insight Bowl or Meineke Car Care Bowl if the Fighting Irish are bowl eligible and do not qualify for the Bowl Championship Series.

The Toyota Gator Bowl may select Notre Dame up to two times over a four-year span that began in 2002. The game chose the Fighting Irish two seasons ago. The other two bowls may select the Irish once over the same period.

TEAM TRAVEL

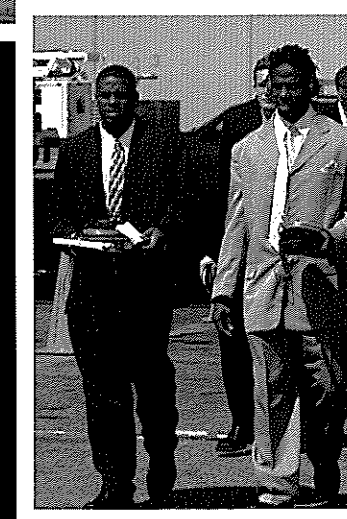

The Rutgers football team travels in a first-class manner during its season. The road trips start with an escort by the New Jersey State Police to Newark-Liberty International Airport, where the team boards a Continental Airlines charter plane and flies to its destination. Once there, the team is again escorted to its hotel by the state police and then to the visiting stadium on game day. Following the game, the team is escorted to the airport and flies via charter back to Newark, where it is again greeted by the New Jersey State Police for a safe return to campus.

For home games, the Rutgers football team spends Friday night at its "home away from home", the beautiful Hilton East Brunswick hotel, located right off the Rutgers campus. Players can focus on the game more easily away from the campus setting, while also enjoying the luxury of first-class hotel accommodations.

SUCCESS AFTER RUTGERS

Countless Rutgers Football Alumni have gone on to successful careers off the field. Here are just a few...

Brian Crockett

A 1982 Rutgers graduate and former Scarlet Knight football star, Brian Crockett assumed the position of vice president for external programs in November, 2004. In this role, he oversees the Department of Alumni Relations, the Scarlet R Club, the Rutgers Fund, Regional Programming, and Development Programs. Brian was formerly the executive director of the Scarlet R Club, the fundraising arm for athletics. At Scarlet R, Brian directed and implemented the Scarlet R Annual and Endowed Scholarship Programs. Since 1993, when he became executive director, donations have risen consistently.

Elnardo Webster

After a standout career as linebacker for Rutgers, Elnardo Webster found his way onto the Pittsburgh Steelers' roster, about to embark on a promising professional football career. Those dreams came crashing down quickly, as he suffered a career-ending knee injury in his first start with the team. Webster quickly turned to his other dream and began to pursue a law degree, graduating from Rutgers with a J.D. degree and a Master's Degree in Business Administration in 1996. He served as a legal intern with the NFL and New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority while in school and is currently a partner in the law firm of Booker, Rabinowicz, Trenk, Lubetkin, Tully, DiPasquale and Webster, P.C. He is also heavily involved in community service, serving as treasurer for Corey Booker's mayoral campaign in Newark and running Sports Features, a program that is focused on exposing inner-city youth to alternative careers in sports.

Vaughn McKoy

Once an enforcer on the football field as a safety from 1986-89, Vaughn McKoy has moved onto a distinguished career in public service. He is currently the Director of the New Jersey Division of Criminal Justice. He began his professional career as a trial lawyer in Newark and has worked his way up the ranks, initially as First Deputy Attorney General and Acting Director of the Division of Criminal Justice. McKoy also serves on the Rutgers' Board of Trustees and is active in the New Brunswick community.

McKoy

Gene Renna

If participating in athletics is about developing teamwork and leadership skills, then Gene Renna has taken the ball and run with it - literally. As the current Chief Operating Officer of Mobil Oil, Renna is among the corporate world's biggest names.

Renna began his 34-year career with Mobil in 1968 as a staff analyst in the financial department of US Marketing and reached a management position by the age of 26. He has held several leadership positions including: President of Mobil South, Executive Vice President - International Marketing and Refining and Vice President of Planning and Economics. He arrived at Rutgers as a 5-9, 175-pound lineman but has emerged as a giant in the business world.

ATHLETIC FACILITIES

RUTGERS STADIUM IS THE HOME OF THE SCARLET KNIGHTS!

Rutgers Stadium, which seats 41,500 fans, was upgraded last season with FieldTurf, the leading artificial playing surface in all of college and pro sports. In addition to the Rutgers Stadium surface, the turf inside the Rutgers Bubble - the nation's largest air-supported indoor structure - was redone with FieldTurf as well. The upgrade to the playing field was just one of the many exciting improvements at Rutgers!

Jarvis Johnson works out for scouts at Rutgers' Pro Timing Day on the FieldTurf inside the Bubble.

With the $13-million expansion complete, the Hale Center gives Rutgers student-athletes all the advantages to succeed on the field, and in the classroom.

In addition to Rutgers Stadium and the Rutgers Bubble, the Rutgers Football Complex boasts three full length practice fields, located just outside the Hale Center.

The Rutgers Football Training Room is another great addition to the Hale Center.

With a dozen treatment tables, 10 ultrasound machines, eight taping tables and a host of cardiovascular and strength and conditioning equipment, the new training room gives Rutgers every advantage in both rehabilitation and prevention of injuries.

Two new advancements in technology - the Biodex machine and the Hydroworks pool - are featured in the training room as well.

The Biodex System 3 offers pioneering breakthroughs in neuromuscular testing and rehabilitation technology, providing student-athletes a fast, effective, documented return to action.

The Hydroworks pool is part of the new "wet room," which also features a hot tub and a cold tub. The Hydroworks is a pool with a treadmill on the floor, providing water resistance while running and putting less strain on joints during rehab.

New to the Hale Center this season is the redesigned players lounge. One of the best and most unique lounges in the country, Rutgers Football players can enjoy their time away from class and practice here.

Featuring plasma TVs, a pool table and air hockey table, PS2 consoles, arcade games and racing simulators, Rutgers Football players can always enjoy their home away from home.

RUTGERS

2005 OUTLOOK

Enthusiasm is building throughout the Rutgers campus as head coach Greg Schiano welcomes a number of talented veterans, as well as another standout recruiting class, for pre-season training camp in August.

The Scarlet Knights are coming off of a productive Spring Practice 2005 where they displayed improvement in a number of areas.

The Scarlet Knights will feature seven returning starters on offense and seven on defense, as well as 11 others who started at least one game in 2004. Statistically, Rutgers returns its top five rushers, its top nine receivers and 10 of its top 11 tacklers from last season.

"Not a lot has changed since the beginning of spring. My feelings are the same. I enjoy coaching this team," Schiano said at the conclusion of his fifth spring practice as Rutgers head coach. "They really seemed to enjoy practicing together and playing the game together, so that made it fun."

OFFENSE

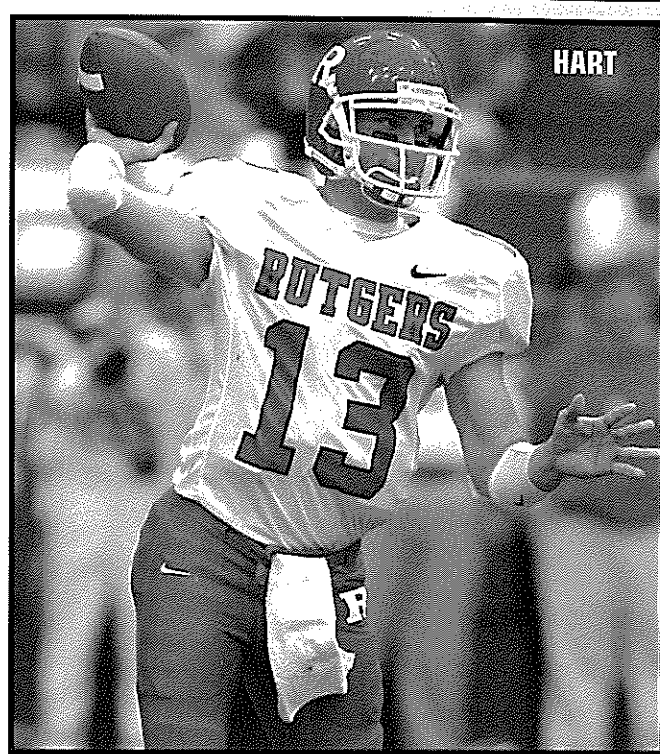

Returning on offense for Rutgers is an exciting group of playmakers at the skill positions, a solid foundation along the offensive line and a quarterback who has set school marks for passing in each of the last two seasons (in 2004, Rutgers led the BIG EAST in passing with 3,416 yards through the air). With 15 players who earned starts last season returning this coming season, the offense figures to once again move the ball in 2005.

At quarterback, Ryan Hart heads into his final season after throwing for 3,154 yards and 17 touchdowns in 2004. The 6-2, 200-pound Hart broke into the starting lineup in the ninth game of his freshman campaign in 2002 and has fashioned some very productive numbers in that time. Last season, Hart set Rutgers marks for passing yards, attempts (453) and completions (295), while also leading the BIG EAST in passing yards per game (286.7) last season. He also set a league mark by completing 65.1% of his passes and threw for over 300 yards in six of 11 games.

Hart enjoyed many fine moments in 2004, and was instrumental in RU's win at Vanderbilt, when the Scarlet Knights rallied from a 24-point halftime deficit in Nashville to post the largest comeback in school history. Hart completed 31-of-40 passes for 344 yards in the win over the Commodores, and also threw for 311 yards and three touchdowns at Syracuse.

"Ryan, having the experience, will come in as the incumbent starter, and he deserves that," Schiano said.

Also at quarterback is Mike Teel, who worked with the scout team throughout the 2004 season and saw his share of reps in spring practice. The 6-4, 220-pound Teel was a three-year starter at Don Bosco Prep and was a First-Team All-State selection in his final season.

RETURNING QUARTERBACKS

Joining the Scarlet Knights for pre-season camp will be another New Jersey standout, Jabu Lovelace (6-2, 200) from Tenafly. Lovelace threw for over 1,600 yards and rushed for nearly 1,000 in his senior season.

Experience and depth are the key attributes of the running backs, as seven backs that saw action last season return, including four who have gained over 100 yards in a single game.

The top rusher in each of the past two seasons, junior fullback Brian Leonard (6-2, 230) is back following a season in which he earned First Team All-America honors - the first RU player to do so since tight end Marco Battaglia in 1995. Leonard, honored by Pro Football Weekly, played in 10 of 11 games in 2004, picking up 732 yards on the ground while grabbing 61 passes for 518 yards, scoring nine total touchdowns. He led the BIG EAST in all-purpose yardage (125.0/game) and was the top pass-catching back in the country last season.

Senior running back Clarence Pittman (5-10, 208) has three years of experience under his belt and enjoyed a strong performance in spring practice. Pittman has gained 559 yards and caught 31 passes thus far in his career, and had a memorable night against Tennessee in 2002 when he gained 104 yards at Neyland Stadium.

Junior Justise Hairston (6-1, 210), whose stellar freshman season in 2003 was sidetracked by injury, returned to play in nine games in 2004 and rushed for 146 yards. He also displayed the ability to catch the ball coming out of the backfield, with 17 receptions for 105 yards after grabbing just one pass in 2003.

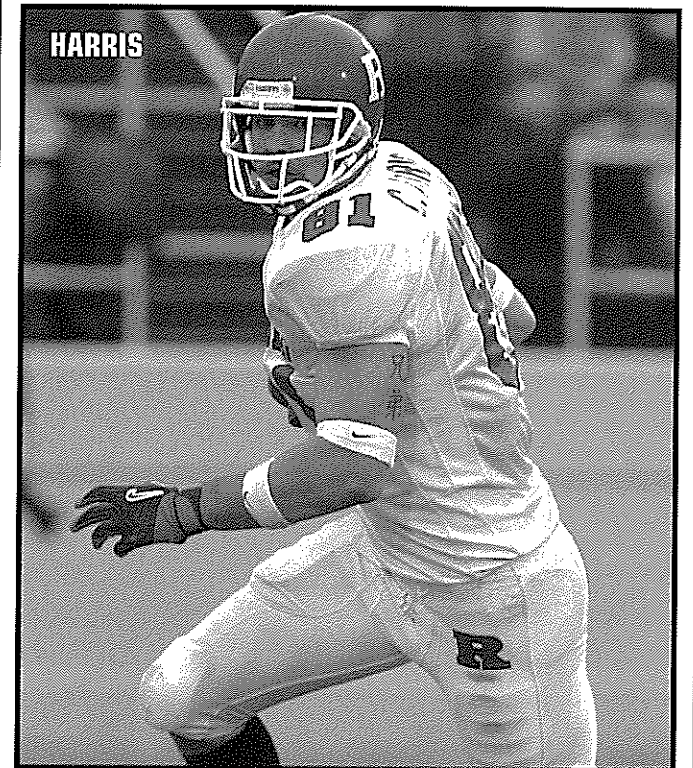

Senior Markis Facyson is another versatile backfield performer. The 5-10, 195-pound running back caught six passes for 39 yards and rushed for 52 yards, with 43 of those coming at Syracuse with Leonard out of the lineup due to injury.

Running back Dimitri Linton (5-9, 195) saw action in the backfield, and as a kick returner, as a true freshman in 2004. Another true freshman, fullback Jean Beljour (6-0, 218) appeared in all 11 games. Senior Ishmael Medley (5-11, 230), who caught four passes for 27 yards in 2004, has seen action as a blocking fullback and has shown he can catch the ball out of the backfield. When lined up alongside Leonard, he provides Rutgers with a physical offensive backfield. Sophomore E.J. Barthel (6-1, 240), who battled back from injury last fall, worked at fullback during the spring. Another freshman, fullback Jeremy Branch (6-0, 212) also contributes at long snapper.

Raymell Rice (5-9, 195/New Rochelle, NY) will join the competition at running back when he arrives for pre-season training camp. Rice saw his first action at Rutgers Stadium on June 12 and led the New York squad in rushing in the Governor's Bowl.

RETURNING TIGHT ENDS

81	Clark Harris	Jr.	6-6	255
85	Sam Johnson	Jr.	6-3	250
86	Brad Listorti	So.	6-4	248

At tight end, Rutgers boasts one of the nation's best in Clark Harris. The 6-6, 255-pound Harris, a preseason John Mackey Award candidate, hauled in 53 catches for 725 yards and five touchdowns last season, including three 100-yard efforts. Harris led all BIG EAST tight ends in catches and yards and was among the top five nationally in both categories.

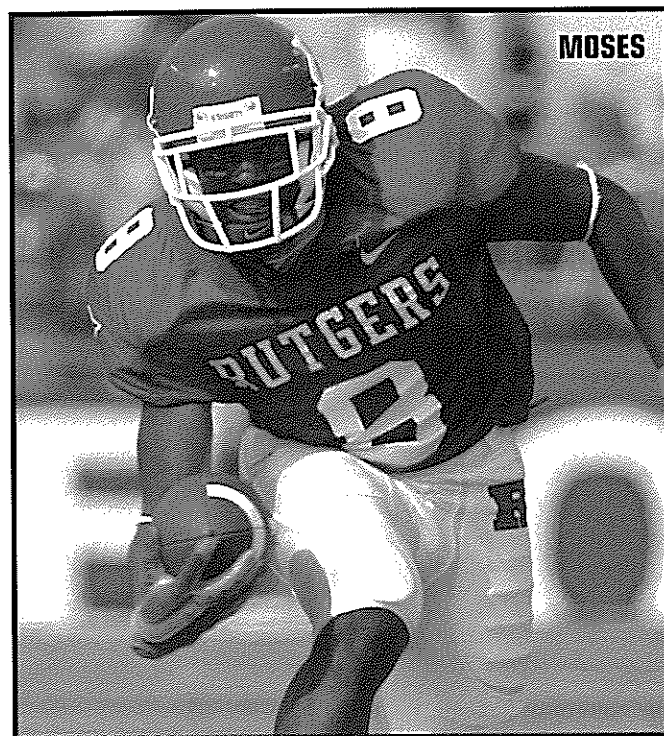

Also returning at tight end is another seasoned veteran, Sam Johnson (6-3, 250), who caught four passes for 40 yards and a touchdown in 2004. Johnson, a product of Bergen Catholic HS, is joined by sophomore Brad Listorti (6-4, 248), who contributed primarily on special teams in 2004, and youngster Kevin Brock (6-5, 225), who worked primarily with the scout team in 2004. Junior Anthony Cali (6-5, 245), who came to Rutgers as a quarterback, made the move to tight end.

"Tight end is a position that I think we have pretty good depth," said Schiano. "We have a great player, I think, in Clark Harris. This is a very important (time) for him, to put on some added muscle, and continue to grow as a blocker. He's a tremendous pass receiver."

RETURNING WIDE RECEIVERS

88	Keith Taylor	Fr.	6-4	185
4	Shawn Tucker	Jr.	6-2	200

At the wide receiver position, Rutgers is talented and deep. Its core includes five veteran receivers, led by All-BIG EAST performer Tres Moses (5-10, 191), who set single-season school records for catches (81) and yards (1,056) in 2004, while finishing first in the BIG EAST in catches and second in receiving yards per game (96.0). Moses' athleticism and solid hands produced five, 100-yard receiving efforts and two 98-yard games during the season. He ended the year with a seven-catch, 168-yard, two-touchdown effort vs. Connecticut, which made him the first RU player to gain more than 1,000 receiving yards in a season.

Moses' production was all the more important in 2004 after his running mate, WR Shawn Tucker (6-2, 200), was sidelined by a groin injury in the season's second game. Tucker caught 21 passes as a true freshman in 2003, and enjoyed an outstanding 2004 season with 50 catches and a team-best 736 receiving yards. He is looking forward to returning in 2005.

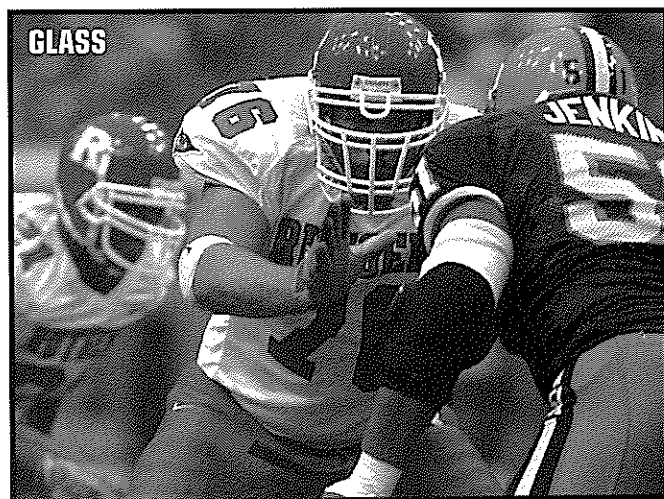

In Tucker's absence, rangy (6-5, 210-pound) senior Chris Baker took advantage of his increased playing time, finishing fourth on the team with 28 catches for 388 yards with two touchdowns.

Marcus Daniels (6-2, 200) and Willie Foster (5-10, 170), a pair of juniors who were high school teammates, also contributed to the receiving corps, combining for 34 catches and 361 yards. Daniels had a pair of six-catch games, including a six-catch, 84-yard effort vs. West Virginia.

Another rangy receiver, freshman Keith Taylor (6-4, 185), saw a lot of action in the spring and was impressive. Junior Wayne Morse (6-2, 187), who earned a spot on the Scarlet Knights' roster as a walk-on last year, is also on hand.

"Coming off the year that he had, I think this is an important spring for Tres, to continue to push to get better and better," said Schiano. "We gained some depth with the loss of 'Tuck' last year ... I think we'll have some good competition going on there."

Joining the mix at wide receiver will be Chris McClover (6-4, 175/Ft. Lauderdale, FL), Tiquan Underwood (6-2, 175/Lawrenceville, NJ) and Dennis Campbell (5-9, 170/Plantation, FL).

RETURNING OFFENSIVE LINEMEN

77	Pedro Sosa	So.	6-5	300
63	William Vogt	Jr.	6-3	275
71	Jeremy Zuttah	So.	6-4	290

The offensive line returns three starters, including All-BIG EAST guard John Glass (6-5, 300) as well as tackle Sameeh McDonald (6-5, 310) and guard Jeremy Zuttah (6-4, 290). Glass started all 11 games at right guard in 2004, while McDonald started nine of 11, missing two due to injury, at right tackle. With both back in 2005, Rutgers will have a strong starting point on the right side of its line.

2005 OUTLOOK

As a true freshman in 2004, Zuttah made four starts at three different positions. He took over at left guard in the spring. He was one of two first-year linemen to see significant action along the line, joined by Corey Hyman (6-4, 290). Pedro Sosa (6-5, 300) also saw his first action as an offensive lineman in 2004, and picked up valuable reps in the spring.

Junior Joe Giacobbe (6-1, 280) made the move from the defensive line to center in the spring, saw extensive action and will be among the group competing to replace Ray Pitch at the position. Also on hand at center is junior Will Vogt (6-3, 275), who has seen action in each of the past two seasons.

Sophomore Mike Fladell (6-8, 318) and redshirt freshman Mike Gilmartin (6-6, 285) both possess outstanding size. Also up front is senior Randy Boxill (6-5, 290). Joining the mix in the spring were sophomore transfer Dan Mazan (6-4, 290) and true freshman Dave McClain (6-4, 290), who graduated early from Central Bucks South (PA) HS to join the team. Both Mazan and McClain played a number of spots along the offensive line in high school.

Along with McClain, New Jersey All-Stater Ryan Blaszczyk (6-4, 300/Medford Lakes, NJ), Kevin Haslam (6-7, 290/Mahwah, NJ), Darren Salinardi (6-4, 290/Jersey City, NJ) and junior college-transfer Darnell Stapleton (6-3, 305/Union, NJ) join the program.

DEFENSE

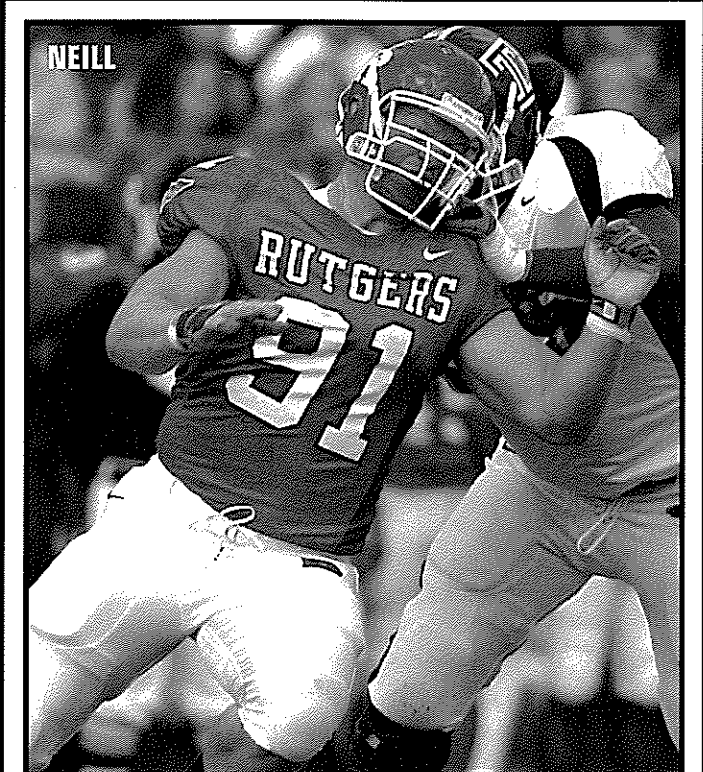

A strength of last season's defense, the defensive line, figures to be a veteran group again this year with a number of key players returning in 2005.

Headlining the list is 6-3, 265-pound senior Ryan Neill, a First Team All-BIG EAST performer who tallied 43 tackles last season and was among the league leaders in sacks (8.0) and tackles-for-loss (13.0). Neill has made a remarkable comeback from a knee injury sustained late in the 2002 season that held him out of the entire 2003 campaign.

Neill's partner at defensive end, 6-5, 270-pound senior Val Barnaby returns after starting 10 of 11 games at defensive end in 2004. He totaled 26 tackles and 2.5 tackles-for-loss last season. Also returning at defensive end is 6-2, 260-pound sophomore Eric Foster, who registered 22 tackles in his first season of action.

Mike Ziarnowski (6-2, 255) and Jamal Westerman (6-3, 252) are a pair of red-shirt freshmen also at end. True freshman Jonathan Pierre-Etienne (6-3, 260/Montreal, QC) was a member of the 2005 recruiting class who enrolled at Rutgers last January and saw his first action during the spring.

The Scarlet Knights will look to replace a pair of veteran starters on the inside in Gary Gibson and David Harley, who both moved on to the National Football League. Looking to step in will be senior Luis Rivas (6-4, 290), who has seen significant action in his three seasons with the Scarlet Knights, and junior Cameron Stephenson

(6-5, 305), who made the switch to the defensive line in the spring after playing on the offensive side of the ball in 2004. Stephenson was an all-league performer on the defensive line at Harbor College in 2003.

Junior Ramel Meekins (6-0, 280), is a two-sport athlete who also competes on the Rutgers wrestling team, and has seen action over the past two seasons, while freshman Carl Howard (6-4, 300) joined the Scarlet Knights' roster late in training camp last season and worked with the team throughout the season.

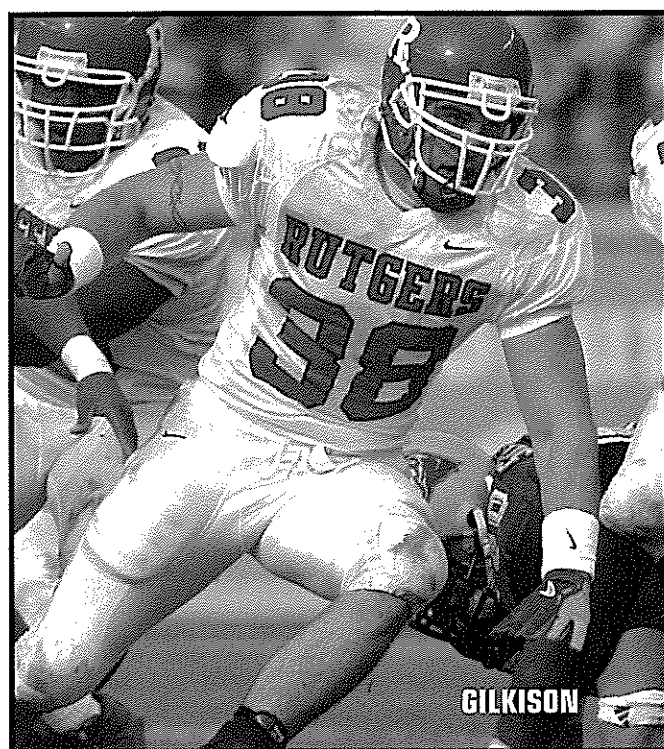

Incoming freshmen Darren Salinardi (6-4, 290/Jersey City, NJ), Vantrise Studivant (6-3, 260/Riviera Beach, FL), Chris Dirks (6-1, 280/Miami, FL) and Gary Watts (6-3, 240/Miami, FL) will also join the competition on the defensive.

"Defensively, I think the front people got better as the spring went on," said Schiano.

The linebacker corps is one of the most veteran units heading into preseason training camp. Senior Terry Bynes (6-2, 225) is a seasoned veteran who was second among linebackers with 50 tackles, while junior William Beckford (6-1, 222) bounced back from a knee injury in 2003 to post 44 tackles while playing in all 11 games.

Senior Will Gilkison (6-2, 230) has drawn a number of starts during his career, and made 33 stops last season. Two other veterans, senior Brad Cunningham (6-1, 232) and junior Quintero Frierson (6-1, 235) are also on hand. Frierson emerged from pre-season training camp as a starter in 2004, but nagging injuries limited his playing time (seven games).

Sophomore Kenny Gillespie (6-1, 204), and freshmen Cherry Lewis (6-3, 215), Nate Harris (6-2, 230), are also at linebacker, along with sophomore Gaudhi DeSedas (6-2, 235) and freshman Brian Tracey (5-10, 212).

"We have some good players back at linebacker," said Schiano. "We're going to try to find the best three and go from there. There will be some great competition."

Incoming freshmen Kevin Malast (6-2, 220/Manchester, NJ), Damaso Munoz (6-0, 200/Miami, FL) and Chris Quaye (6-0, 230/Timber Creek, NJ) also join the team.

The secondary was young last season, starting a pair of sophomores and a true freshman, and will benefit from the experience it gained. Finding a replacement at strong safety for three-year starter Jarvis Johnson, who moved on to the NFL, will be one of the coaching staff's main goals.

Starting cornerbacks Joe Porter (6-0, 200) and Derrick Roberson (5-10, 175), a pair of juniors, are back on hand after cutting their teeth in BIG EAST play last season. Porter finished fourth on the team with 55 tackles and led the Scarlet Knights, and was one of the leaders in the BIG EAST, in interceptions with five. Roberson (38 tackles, one interception) showed quickness and athleticism against some of the league's top receivers in 2004. Sophomore Anthony Miller (6-0, 170) also saw action at corner in the latter part of the 2004 season.

Junior Manny Collins (5-10, 180) had worked his way into the starting lineup by the sixth game of the season (vs. Temple), but had his season cut short when he was involved in a car accident following the Scarlet Knights' win over the Owls. Teammates Dondre Asberry and Eddie Grimes were also involved in the accident and lost for the remainder of the season, which severely altered the depth and makeup of the secondary.

One of the brightest surprises of the 2004 season was the emergence of Ron Girault (5-11, 195) at safety. By season's end, he was the top freshman tackler in the BIG EAST Conference with 61 stops. He also added three interceptions.

Veteran Jason Nugent (6-1, 209), a senior, has seen significant action at safety in the last two seasons and contributed 38 tackles in 2004. Seniors Corey Barnes (5-8, 175) and Matt Mitchell (6-1, 197), and juniors Brandon Wood (6-1, 200) and Bryan Durango (5-10, 192), have also seen action. Junior Nkosi Remy (6-1, 180) made the switch from wide receiver to the secondary in the spring.

Younger players who look to contribute include red-shirt freshmen Robert Baham (6-0, 195) and Chazz Lynn (5-10, 175) and sophomore Brandon Renkart (6-3, 225).

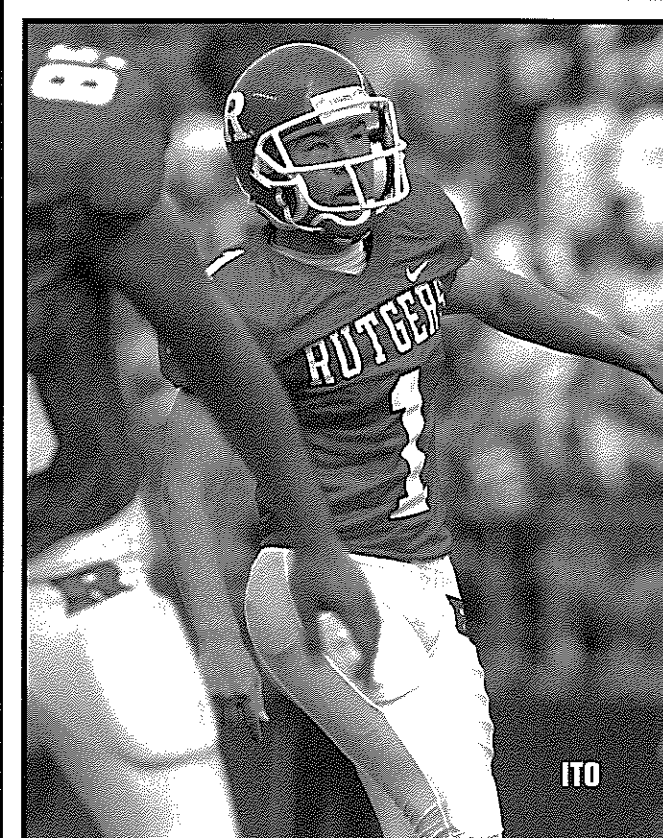

Reinforcements in the secondary arrive this fall in the form of Glen Lee (6-2, 195/New Rochelle, NY), Devin McCourty (5-11, 175/Nanuet, NY), Jason McCourty (5-11, 175/Nanuet, NY) and Davon Smart (5-10, 185/Hackensack, NJ), who could also see time at running back.

SPECIAL TEAMS

Sophomore Jeremy Ito (5-11, 180) burst onto the scene in 2004 by making four field goals in RU's season-opening 19-14 win over Michigan State and, a week later, tied the Rutgers Stadium record with a 48-yard field goal. By seasons' end, Ito had converted 15 field goals, including six from 40 or more yards. He finished the season second nationally among freshmen kickers in both points and field goals and converted 28-of-29 extra point attempts for good measure. He will receive competition from Mike Cortese, who has handled kickoff duties in each of the past two seasons.

"Jeremy Ito had a real special freshman year, and hopefully he can build on that," said Schiano.

Mike Cortese (6-3, 201) returns for his senior season as a place kicker. Cortese has handled kickoff duties throughout his career. Junior Joe Radigan (6-5, 220) returns for his third year as the Scarlet Knights' primary punter after averaging 38.4 yards per punt in 2004. Radigan, who also dropped 10 inside the opponents' 20-yard line, will work with Cortese and Ito as well.

The kick return duties were handled capably last season by Moses (20.6 avg.) and Foster (21.1 avg.), and both return. Foster (12.4 avg.) and Moses (7.7 avg.) were also the top punt returners.

"We have the same guys coming back, with Tres and Willie, and I think we have some real deep threats in returning kickoffs," said Schiano. "I'm comfortable, and there should be real good competition there."

"Right now what we finally have is competition at every position. We did lose some some guys that were fine football players and leaders, but I'm confident that the guys who have been waiting in the wings are ready to assume the role."

GREG SCHIANO

HEAD COACH

A New Jersey native who returned to his roots to take over the reins of the Rutgers football program, Greg Schiano leads the Scarlet Knights with the high energy, passionate drive and boundless enthusiasm that have been the hallmark of his career.

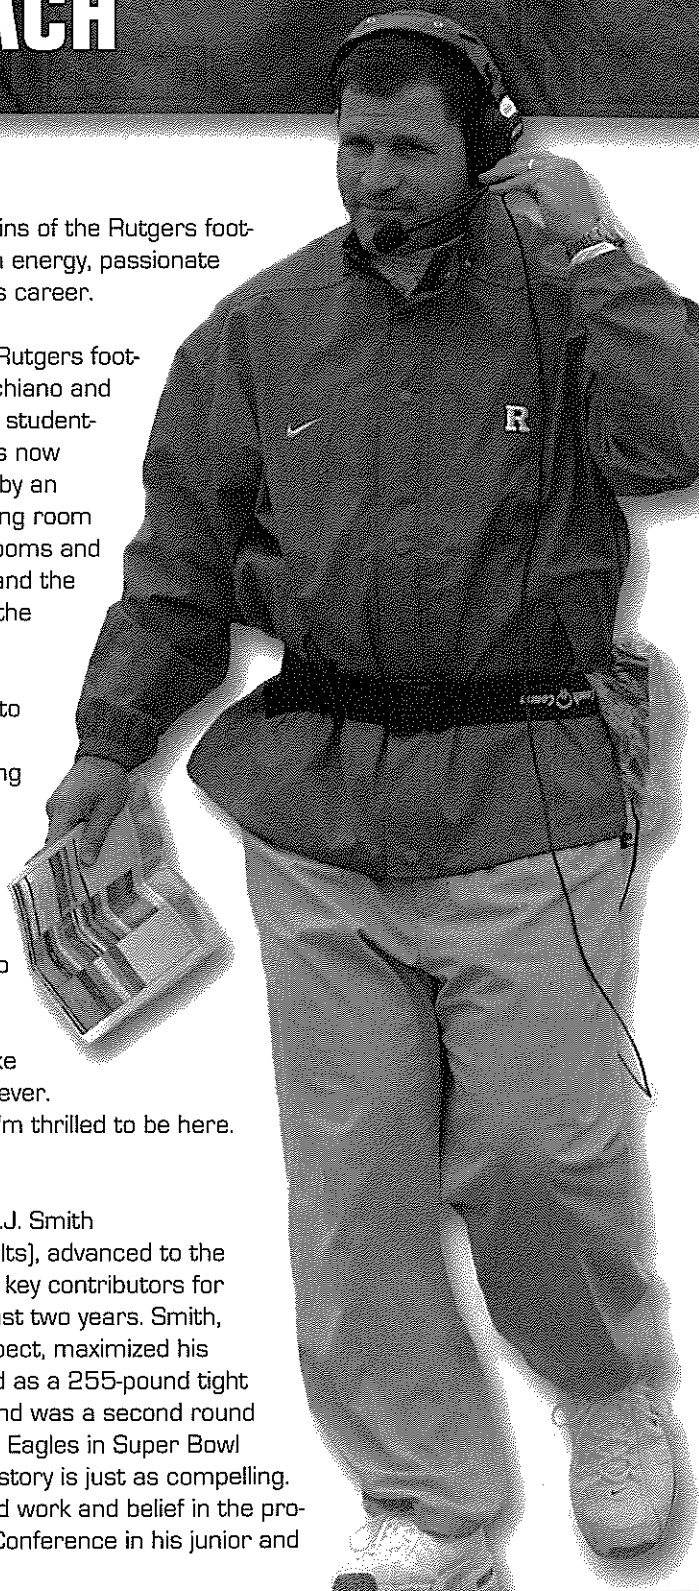

Schiano's impact as head coach is evidenced in all aspects of the Rutgers football program in his fifth season as the Scarlet Knights' mentor. Schiano and his staff have continued to upgrade the level of talent by recruiting student-athletes with outstanding athleticism and great character. Rutgers now boasts one of the nation's premier football complexes, highlighted by an expansive strength and conditioning facility, a state-of-the-art training room and academic support facilities which include classrooms, study rooms and computer labs. With the addition of a state-of-the-art scoreboard and the FieldTurf playing surface, Rutgers Stadium continues to be one of the most scenic settings for college football in the country.

Schiano's arrival signaled a new era at Rutgers, and he continues to guide the program at New Jersey's State University to the elite of Division I-A college football. His tireless work ethic, infectious winning attitude and commitment to the university are pillars which have generated excitement throughout the "State of Rutgers."

Schiano, who grew up in Wyckoff and graduated from Ramapo High School, took over as the 27th head coach of the nation's oldest college football program on Dec. 1, 2000. On that day, Schiano proclaimed his vision of excellence for Rutgers football.

"This program will be built on a rock foundation," he said. "It will take longer than building it on stilts, but when it's built, it will be built forever. This is where I started; this is where I was striving to get back to. I'm thrilled to be here. It's time."

Under Schiano's guidance, two former Scarlet Knights, tight end L.J. Smith (Philadelphia Eagles) and linebacker Gary Brackett (Indianapolis Colts), advanced to the NFL in 2003 after stellar careers at Rutgers, and both have been key contributors for their teams as they advanced to the NFL playoffs in each of the past two years. Smith, who came to Rutgers as a 210-pound tight end/linebacking prospect, maximized his years as a Scarlet Knight in all areas of the program and emerged as a 255-pound tight end, recognized as one of the best in the country at his position, and was a second round draft choice of the Eagles. Smith was the starting tight end for the Eagles in Super Bowl XXXVIII, and caught a touchdown pass in that contest. Brackett's story is just as compelling. Brackett originally came to Rutgers as a walk-on, and through hard work and belief in the program, blossomed into one of the top linebackers in the BIG EAST Conference in his junior and senior seasons. He was a two-time MVP for the Scarlet Knights. Although undrafted following his senior season, Brackett earned a berth on Indianapolis' roster and is a regular contributor for the Colts.

Three more former Scarlet Knights were taken by NFL teams following the 2003 season, cornerback Nate Jones (Dallas Cowboys), defensive end Raheem Orr (Houston Texans) and cornerback Brandon Haw (Philadelphia Eagles). Four more who honed their skills at Rutgers signed NFL contracts last spring, including defensive tackle Gary Gibson and safety Jarvis Johnson (Baltimore Ravens), as well as two more defensive tackles, David Harley (Minnesota Vikings) and J'Vonne Parker (Cleveland Browns).

Jones also became Rutgers football's first two-time Academic All-America selection. A standout in the classroom as well as on the field, Jones was as a member of the prestigious National Football Foundation/College Football Hall of Fame National Scholar Class of 2003, one of just eight Division I-A players honored, and was also the recipient of the BIG EAST/Aéropostale 2003 Football Scholar-Athlete of the Year Award.

As Jones' accomplishments attest, academic achievement has been a hallmark of Schiano's tenure at Rutgers. The initial Academic Performance Rate (APR) released by the NCAA in late February showed that the Scarlet Knights were the fourth-ranked program nationally among all Division I-A programs.

Achievement and success are nothing new to Schiano. Wherever he has been in his coaching career, success has followed. During Schiano's two-year stint as defensive coordinator at Miami (1999-2000), the Hurricanes posted a 20-5 record, including an 11-1 record, the No. 2 national ranking and the Sugar Bowl championship in 2000. The Hurricanes boasted one of the top scoring defenses in the nation in 2000, and were the stingiest defensive squad in the BIG EAST Conference.

HEAD COACH

Coach Schiano with ABC's Dr. Jerry Punch before the 2004 season opener.

Under Schiano, the Miami defense showed rapid and marked improvement in his two seasons as defensive coordinator. The 'Canes defense closed out the 1999 season by not allowing a passing touchdown in 27 quarters, and was 12th nationally in scoring defense (allowing 17.2 points per game). In 2000, Miami surrendered just 15.5 points per game, the fewest allowed by any team in the BIG EAST and No. 5 nationally.

Prior to his assignment at Miami, Schiano coached in the National Football League for three seasons with the Chicago Bears (1996-98). The Wyckoff, NJ, native was a defensive assistant in 1996-97, and was the defensive backfield coach in 1998. The 1997 Chicago Bears' third-down defense showed measurable improvement under Schiano's leadership, finishing first in the NFC and fourth in the NFL as opponents converted just 31.7% of their third-down attempts. In 1996, the Bears' pass defense climbed from 27th to 11th in fewest yards allowed.

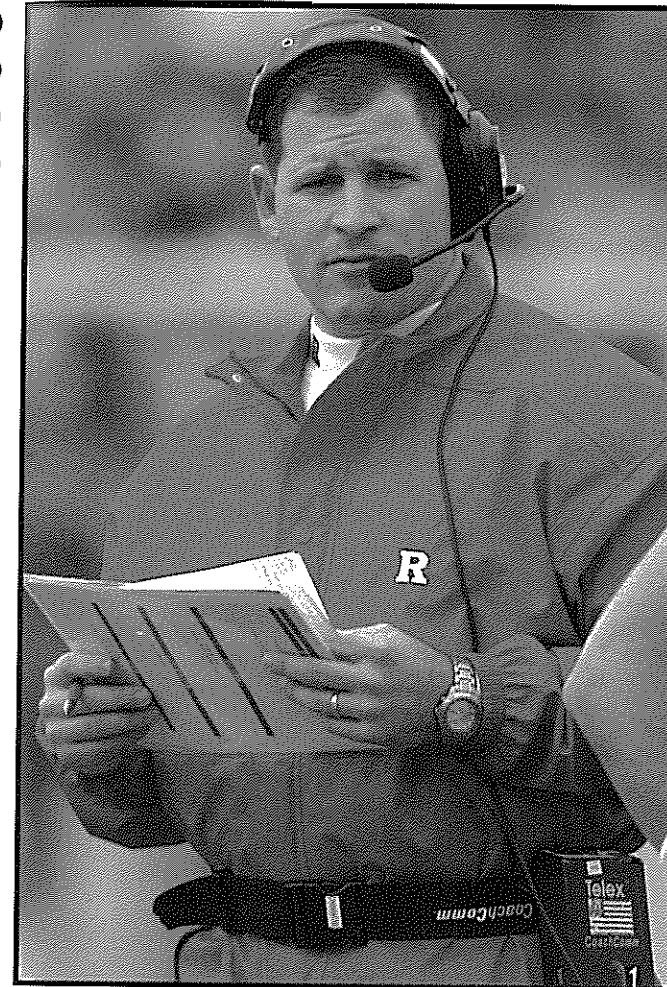

Schiano was defensive backfield coach at Penn State University from 1991-95. While at Penn State, the Nittany Lions had 58 wins and made five bowl appearances in his tenure. Overall, in nine seasons as an assistant on the collegiate level, Schiano's teams advanced to seven bowl games.

Schiano's first assignment as a coach in the college ranks came during the 1989 season, when he served as a graduate assistant coach at Rutgers, following a one-year stint as an assistant coach at his alma mater, Ramapo High School. Schiano was a standout linebacker at Ramapo, playing for Coach Mike Miello. Miello joined Schiano's initial staff at Rutgers as running backs coach and recruiting coordinator in 2001, and was an administrator in the Scarlet Knights' program from 2002-05 (Miello has returned to the field as head coach at William Paterson University). After his initial stint at Rutgers in 1989, when he served under then Rutgers head coach Dick Anderson, Schiano moved on to Penn State as a graduate assistant coach in 1990. Jeff Anderson, who is Dick Anderson's son, is now serving as a graduate assistant on Schiano's Rutgers staff.

During Schiano's two-year stint as defensive coordinator at Miami (1999-2000), the Hurricanes posted a 20-5 record, including an 11-1 record, the No. 2 national ranking and the Sugar Bowl championship in 2000. The Hurricanes boasted one of the top scoring defenses in the nation in 2000, and were the stingiest defensive squad in the BIG EAST Conference.

Academic achievement has been a hallmark of Schiano's tenure at Rutgers. The initial Academic Performance Rate (APR) released by the NCAA in late February showed that the Scarlet Knights were the fourth-ranked program nationally among all Division I-A programs.

Schiano's influence reaches beyond the college playing fields, as his stable of NFL players continues to grow each season. In addition to the aforementioned former Scarlet Knights who have gone on to play in the NFL, Schiano has helped guide such standouts as Ed Reed (safety, Baltimore Ravens), Dan Morgan (linebacker, Carolina Panthers), Kim Herring (defensive back, Cincinnati Bengals) and Mike Rumph (cornerback, San Francisco 49ers).

Schiano is a 1988 graduate of Bucknell University where he was a three-year letterman at linebacker. He was named to The Sporting News All-America Pre-Season Team in 1987. He served as team captain in his senior year and, as a junior, he topped the team with 114 tackles and was named All-League in the Colonial Conference.

Schiano and his wife, Christy, are the proud parents of four children, sons Joey, John, Matthew, and daughter Kate.

WHAT THEY'RE SAYING ABOUT GREG SCHIANO

"Greg Schiano pushed us to be the best, not only on the field but in the classroom and as people. He didn't accept anything less than 100% from us at all times, because that is what he expects from himself, too. I learned a lot from the man and think he has done a great job rebuilding the program."

- Nate Jones, former Rutgers All-American and member of the Dallas Cowboys

"Coach Schiano is a great man and I owe him a lot. He helped me develop not only as a football player, but also as a person. He has done an amazing job with the program and the team is only going to get better."

- Raheem Orr, former Rutgers defensive end member of the New York Giants

"Coach Schiano and his staff helped prepare me both mentally and physically for the next level. They're more than just coaches - they're really great people and they took an active role in my life at Rutgers. Whenever I return to Rutgers and to the football complex, I always feel like I'm back home."

- L.J. Smith, former Rutgers tight end and second-round draft pick of the Philadelphia Eagles

"Coach Schiano is a proven leader who inspires and motivates his players. He's a great coach with great vision - I don't think it will be long before all the pieces are in place at Rutgers. Rutgers is a great place to play football."

- Gary Brackett, former Scarlet Knight and member of the Indianapolis Colts

"Coach Schiano is a great coach - he was like a father figure to all of us. He brings a great scheme to teams that give them the opportunity to win. I have all the respect in the world for him and know he will be a success."

- Ed Reed, S, Baltimore Ravens

"Coach Schiano taught us as an NFL-type defensive scheme, which played to our strengths. He was also a family-oriented coach, who cared about you and your family's well being."

- Mike Rumph, DB, San Francisco 49ers

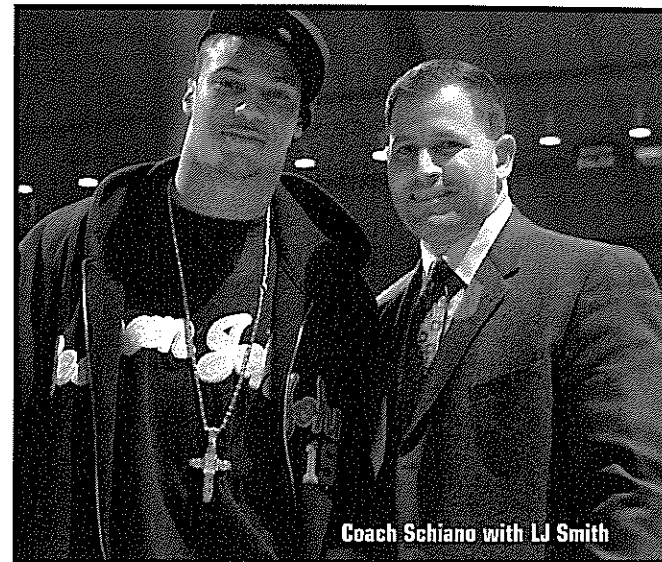

"Coach took a lot of time with his players. He took extra time to make sure we were doing the right things and he was a great motivator. He was really somebody that you love to play for."

- Dan Morgan, LB, Carolina Panthers

"I think he's a great coach and a great person. He's a guy who built our whole defense on trust, and I'm sure with him being the head coach at Rutgers, he's taking the same philosophy to them."

- Damione Lewis, DT, St. Louis Rams

Coach Schiano with L.J. Smith

"First of all he is a really good guy. He taught me a great deal in my first two years in the NFL in Chicago. He was an inspiration to me. He is a thinker, he is well-organized and he is going to get with his players and turn that program into a winner."

- Terry Cousin, DB, Jacksonville Jaguars

"Coach Schiano was my first coach in the NFL for the Chicago Bears. He was instrumental in preparing me for my professional career. He is a great guy to be around."

- Tony Parrish, DB, San Francisco 49ers

"Greg Schiano is one of the most intense coaches I've ever played for."

- Kim Herring, S, Cincinnati Bengals

"He's the first coach that introduced me to the man defense, with four under and three deep. It really helped me pick up the scheme here in the NFL. He's a smart, energetic coach who really taught me to watch tape and break down film. We were really close off the field."

- Nate Webster, LB, Cincinnati Bengals

"There is no one more excited about having a Jersey guy coaching a New Jersey football team than me. I know Coach Schiano is going to turn the program around."

- Ray Lucas, QB, former Rutgers Scarlet Knight

"I'm fired up that Coach Schiano is at the helm at my alma mater. What I like best about him is his attitude. Every time you're around him you come away with a feeling that he's going to get it done."

- Marco Battaglia, TE, Pittsburgh Steelers and former Rutgers All-American

"Coach Schiano is a great fit at Rutgers. He's the type of football coach that Rutgers needs - young, energetic and knowledgeable. He not only gets the team ready for Saturdays, he's getting his players ready to play on Sundays as well."

- Shaun O'Hara, former Rutgers Scarlet Knight and a member of the New York Giants

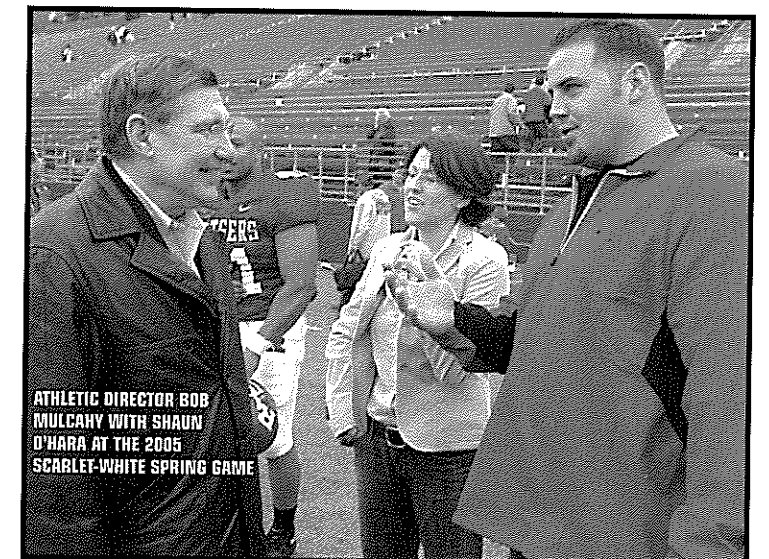

"Coach Schiano is one of the most impressive coaches and people I have been around. He has the ability to maximize talent and develop players at an extraordinary rate. Schiano is a great fit for Rutgers and he will accomplish the goals he has set forth."

Chris Demarest, a New Jersey native who began his career in coaching as a graduate assistant at Rutgers in 1989, is in his second season as secondary coach of the Scarlet Knights.

Demarest came to Rutgers after serving as defensive backs coach at North Carolina State for four seasons (2000-03). In that time, Demarest helped the Wolfpack to four consecutive bowl appearances and three wins in post-season play, and a 34-17 overall record. Demarest tutored Terrence Holt, who earned All-America honors and is a member of the Detroit Lions. Demarest also coached NFL players Brian Williams (Minnesota Vikings), Adrian Wilson (Arizona Cardinals), Andre Maddox (New York Jets) and Lamont Reid (Arizona Cardinals) while at North Carolina State. Last season, Demarest mentored strong safety Jarvis Johnson, who signed a free agent contract with the Baltimore Ravens.

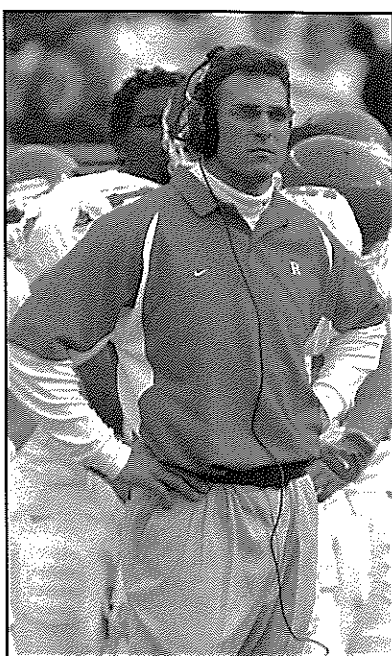

This is Demarest's second stint as a member of the Scarlet Knights' coaching staff. His first coaching assignment was as a graduate assistant for the Scarlet Knights in 1989, following a successful collegiate career as a player at Northeastern. In his first tenure at Rutgers, Demarest was on a staff that also included Rutgers head coach Greg Schiano as a graduate assistant coach.

Prior to his tenure at North Carolina State, Demarest was a graduate assistant at Florida State for two seasons (1998-99). Demarest was responsible for coaching the cornerbacks and helped the Seminoles to a combined 23-2 record, including a 12-0 record in 1999 and a victory over Virginia Tech in the Sugar Bowl for the national championship. The year before, the Seminoles led the nation in pass defense en route to an 11-2 record and a berth in the Fiesta Bowl. Demarest helped tutor a number of Seminoles who went on to the NFL, including Derick Gibson (Oakland Raiders), Dexter Jackson (Tampa Bay Bucs) and Mario Edwards (Miami Dolphins).

A native of Keyport, NJ, Demarest was a standout defensive back at Northeastern, earning All-New England honors and All-America recognition after grabbing 11 interceptions in 1987. He was a free agent signee by the Washington Redskins in 1988, before beginning his coaching career with the Scarlet Knights in 1989 as a graduate assistant. Demarest also served on the staffs of East Carolina (1990), Northeastern (1991-92), East Stroudsburg (1993), Millersville (1994), and Lehigh (1994-97) before moving on to Florida State.

Demarest, who has a daughter Junelle, resides in Piscataway.

KYLE FLOOD

OFFENSIVE LINE COACH

Kyle Flood is in his first season as offensive line coach for the Rutgers football team.

Flood came to Rutgers after three seasons at the University of Delaware, where he helped the Blue Hens to a national championship in 2003, and a pair of Atlantic 10 Conference titles. In addition to serving as offensive line coach at Delaware, he was also assistant head coach and recruiting coordinator.

Flood was named to the Delaware coaching staff in 2002. During his time at Delaware, the Blue Hens posted a 30-11 record, including 15-1 and the Division I-AA national championship in 2003. In 2004, the Blue Hens were 9-4 and shared the Atlantic 10 title with a 7-1 conference record.

Flood's offensive line helped Delaware rank No. 9 nationally in scoring (34.7), 20th in rushing (207.6 yards) and 33rd in total offense, while allowing just 25 sacks in 16 games in its national championship season. In 2004, the Blue Hens were third in the Atlantic 10 in rushing, gaining 167 yards per game, and allowed just 19 sacks in 13 games. In his first season at Delaware, the Blue Hens' offensive line allowed 15 sacks in 12 games, the lowest total allowed by a Blue Hen team since 1991.

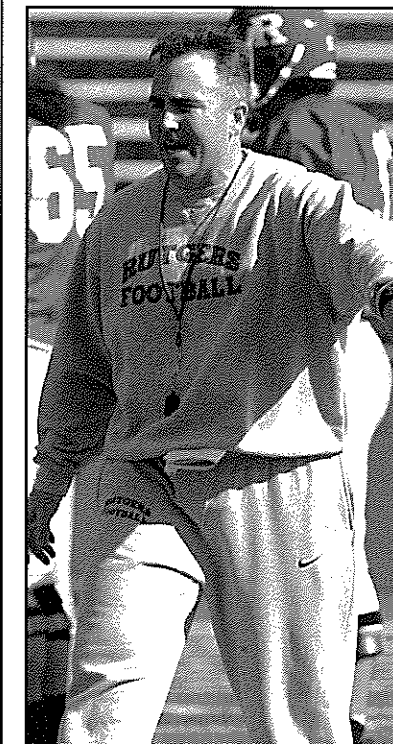

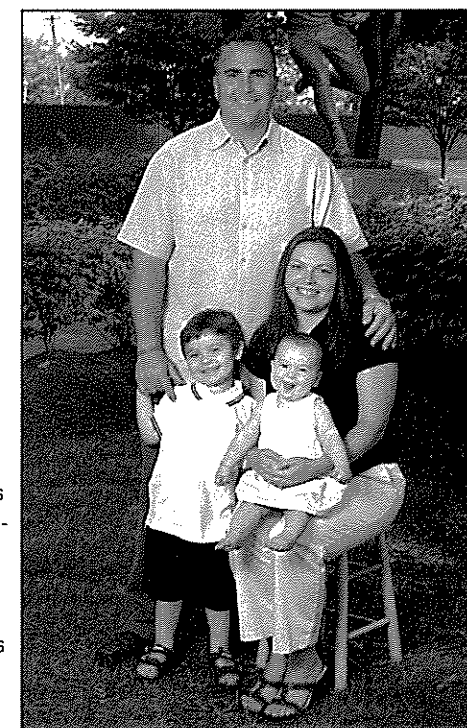

Prior to his three seasons at Delaware, Flood was offensive line coach at Hofstra from 1997-2001. While at Hofstra, he helped the Pride earn berths in NCAA Division I-AA Football Championship in 1997, 1999, 2000, and 2001. The Pride ranked among the top offensive teams in NCAA I-AA football during his tenure, ranking second in total offense (491.6), fourth in passing offense (301.0), and fifth in scoring offense (37.9) nationally in 2001. They captured the 2001 Atlantic 10 Champions in their first year in the conference.

The 34-year-old Flood, a 1993 graduate of Iona College, was a four-year letterwinner for the Gaels. A high school teammate of former Rutgers All-American tight end Marco Battaglia at St. Francis Prep High School in Queens, NY, Flood served as team captain of the Gaels in 1991, when he earned first team All-Liberty Conference honors in 1991.

Flood's first college coaching position came in 1995-96 as offensive line coach at Long Island University-C.W. Post. While coaching at C.W. Post, he helped the team to the ECAC Division II Eastern title in 1996.

Flood began his coaching career at St. Francis Prep in 1993, as both offensive line and defensive line coach in 1993-94. He also taught mathematics at St. Francis for four years.

Phil Galiano is in his third season as a member of the Rutgers staff, serving as defensive ends coach. Galiano worked with the linebackers in 2004, while working with the defensive line in 2003.

Galiano began his career with the Scarlet Knights as a defensive assistant in 2003, playing an integral role in weekly preparation for the upcoming opponent, including on-field coaching and film breakdown. Galiano also helped tutor two-time Rutgers MVP Gary Brackett, now a three-year NFL veteran with the Indianapolis Colts.

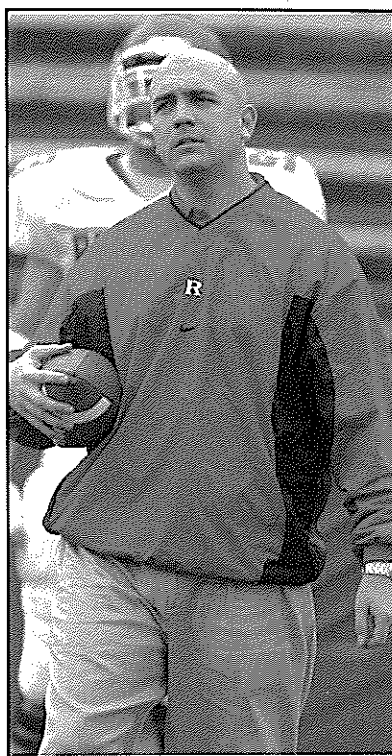

Prior to coming to Rutgers, Galiano was an offensive assistant at Villanova in 2002, working primarily with the tight ends. He also coached the outside linebackers at New Haven in 2001, under current Scarlet Knight assistant head coach, special teams and linebackers coach Darren Rizzi, who was head coach of the Chargers at the time. Galiano's first assignment was at Dickinson College, where he served as coach of the outside linebackers during the 2000 season.

Galiano was a three-year starter at safety for Shippensburg University, and served as a tri-captain during his senior season. Galiano helped lead the Raiders to three consecutive winning seasons as a starter from 1997-99, when they posted a 21-11 mark in that time. As a senior, despite missing almost two games with injury, he was one of the team's most productive defensive backs, recording 63 tackles, including two for loss.

Galiano led the Raiders' secondary in tackles with 72 as a junior, and also led the team in fumble recoveries with three. He set a Shippensburg record for the longest fumble return when he took a recovered fumble 95 yards for a touchdown against Bloomsburg. As a sophomore, he broke into the starting lineup and recorded 69 tackles and blocked one punt. He also returned two interceptions 50 yards, including a 35-yard return for a TD against Edinboro. As a freshman, he recorded 46 tackles and had one interception.

Four of Jackson's standout receivers, Brandon Lloyd (San Francisco 49ers), Walter Young (Pittsburgh Steelers), Aaron Moorehead (Indianapolis Colts) and Greg Lewis (Philadelphia Eagles) completed their second season in the NFL at the conclusion of the 2004 season. In Jackson's six years, Illini wide receivers gained over 2,000 yards through the air five times and Lloyd and Young each earned All-Big Ten honors. Jackson helped Illinois win an out-right Big Ten title in 2001 earning a Sugar Bowl berth.

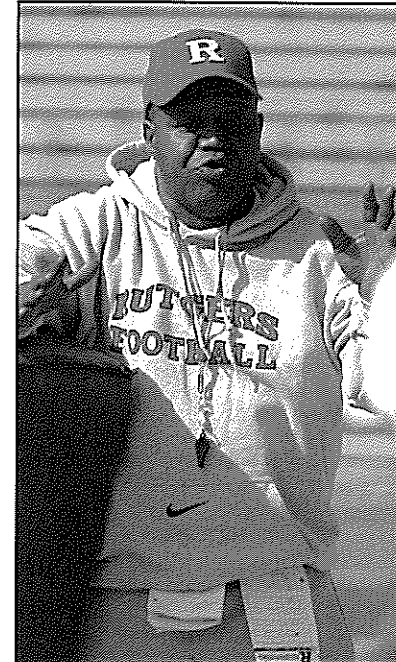

Prior to his term at Illinois, Jackson was member of the Oregon State staff for eight years, serving as wide receivers coach (1992-97) and adding responsibilities as Assistant Head Coach in 1996-97. JOHN McNULTY

WIDE RECEIVERS COACH

John McNulty, who came to Rutgers with six years of experience as a coach in the National Football League, is in his second season as wide receivers coach at Rutgers. Under his guidance, Rutgers wide receiver Tres Moses enjoyed a breakout season as the leading pass catcher in the BIG EAST in 2004, hauling in 81 receptions for 1,056 yards and a league-best 7.4 catches per game. Moses was named first team All-BIG EAST for his efforts.

McNulty was an assistant coach with the NFL's Jacksonville Jaguars from 1998-2002, and with the Cowboys in 2003. During his six-year career as an assistant in the NFL, his teams advanced to the playoffs three times. McNulty also had seven years of collegiate coaching experience with the University of Michigan (1991-94) and the University of Connecticut (1995-97), before beginning his tenure at Rutgers.

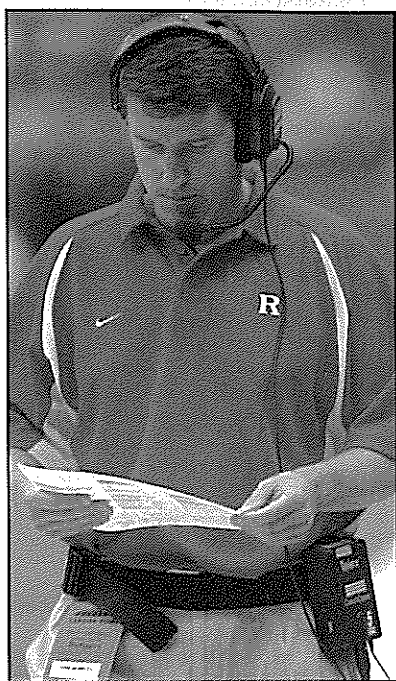

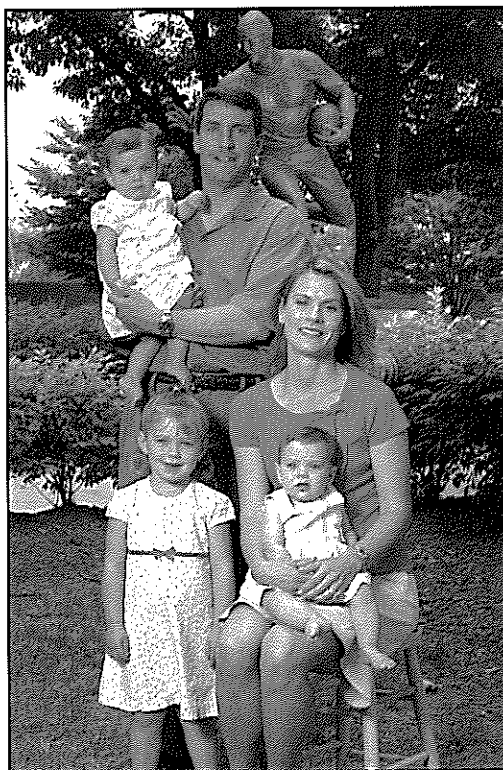

McNulty served as the Jaguars' quality control coach in 1998 and 1999, before being named wide receivers coach in 2000. While with the Jags, McNulty worked with one of the NFL's top receiving duos, Jimmy Smith and Keenan McCardell. During the 2000 and 2001 seasons, that pair combined for 390 receptions, good for 4,903 yards, and Smith earned All-Pro honors both seasons. In 2002, Smith notched 80 receptions for 1,027 yards, the seventh consecutive season that he surpassed the 1,000-yard mark.

McNulty helped Jacksonville to NFL Playoff appearances in 1998, with an 11-5 regular-season record, and 1999, with a 14-2 regular season mark. McNulty added to that with Dallas in 2003, as he helped the Cowboys to a 10-6 record and a berth in the playoffs.

A safety as a collegian at Penn State from 1988-90, McNulty was a member of two Nittany Lion bowl teams. He began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at the University of Michigan in 1991. Michigan won two Big Ten titles and appeared in four bowl games, including two Rose Bowl appearances, in McNulty's tenure with the Wolverines. In 1994, McNulty worked with standout wide receivers Amani Toomer (now with the New York Giants) and Mercury Hayes (one-time Atlanta Falcon).

McNulty then moved to Connecticut in 1995, working with wide receivers and special teams, and coaching wide receivers who surpassed the 1,000-yard mark in receptions in both 1996 and 1997. He helped UConn WR Carl Bond earn All-America notice in 1997.

DARREN RIZZI

ASSISTANT HEAD COACH/SPECIAL TEAMS/LINEBACKERS COACH

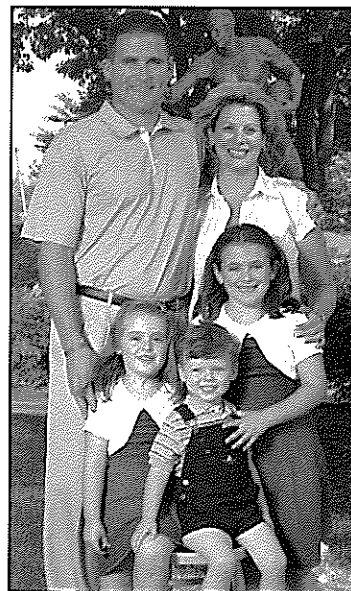

Darren Rizzi is in his fourth season with the Rutgers coaching staff, and is in his second year as Assistant Head Coach. Rizzi, who was head coach at New Haven for three seasons before coming to Rutgers, also coaches the Scarlet Knights' special teams and linebackers.

Rutgers has made marked strides in special teams play under Rizzi's direction the last three years. Last year, the Scarlet Knights' attack featured one of the top freshman kickers in the country, Jeremy Ito. Ito was a two-time BIG EAST Special Teams Player of the Week selection in 2004, and earned Freshman All-America honors from The Sporting News. Under Rizzi's tutelage, former Rutgers standout and current member of the Dallas Cowboys Nate Jones developed into one of the nation's most feared kickoff return weapons, earning All-BIG EAST honors twice, and being named the Conference's "Co-Special Teams Player of the Year" in 2002. Jones also led the BIG EAST and was sixth in the country in kickoff returns, averaging 28.3 yards per return in 2002.

Before taking over the linebackers in 2005, Rizzi served as the Scarlet Knights' running backs coach in his first three seasons on the staff, and developed a deep corps, led by fullback Brian Leonard. Leonard was a First Team All-BIG EAST selection and was named to Pro Football Weekly's All-America team following an outstanding 2004 campaign. Leonard was named BIG EAST Freshman of the Year in 2003 by College Football News after leading the team in rushing with 880 yards.

Rizzi, who added Assistant Head Coach responsibilities in February, 2004, compiled a 15-14 record as head coach at New Haven, despite playing notoriously challenging schedules. In his final season at New Haven, Rizzi guided the Chargers to a 5-4 record in 2001, facing one of the toughest schedules in the nation among Division II teams. One of the biggest wins in New Haven history came when Rizzi's Chargers notched a 17-14 upset victory over Villanova, which was ranked No. 12 among Division I-AA teams at the time.

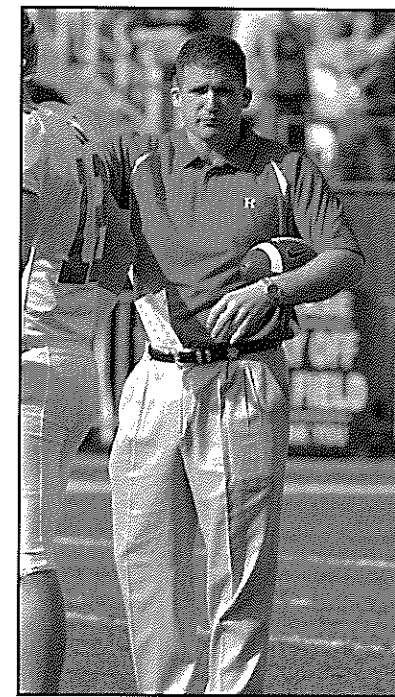

A native of Hillsdale, NJ, and a graduate of Bergen Catholic High School, Rizzi went on to earn All-America honors as a tight end at Rhode Island. Following his senior season, Rizzi was named the Rhode Island College Player of the Year, and was honored by the New Jersey Sports Writers Association at its annual banquet. He graduated from Rhode Island in 1992 with a degree in speech communications.

Rizzi began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at Rhode Island in 1992 before moving to Colgate, where he served as tight ends coach/special teams assistant in 1993. He was an assistant at New Haven from 1994-97, serving as special teams coordinator/defensive line from 1994-96 before being elevated to defensive coordinator in 1997, where he helped lead the Chargers to a 12-2 record and an appearance in the Division II national championship game.

Rizzi was on the Northeastern staff in 1998, serving as special teams coordinator/linebackers coach before returning to New Haven as head coach in 1999.

Rizzi and his wife, Tracey, are the proud parents of daughters Mackenzie and Alexandra, and son Christian. They are expecting their fourth child this fall.

JOE SUSAN

RECRUITING COORDINATOR/TIGHT ENDS COACH

Joe Susan, who possesses a wide range of college coaching experience, is in his fifth season as a member of the Scarlet Knights' coaching staff. He was named recruiting coordinator in February, 2004, and also serves as tight ends coach. Susan has experience as a head coach, offensive coordinator, offensive line coach, and tight ends coach in over 25 years in the collegiate ranks.

In 2004, Susan directed a deep corps of tight ends that included Clark Harris, a first team All-BIG EAST selection and a candidate for the John Mackey Award as the nation's top tight end. Harris led all BIG EAST tight ends in catches (53), yards (753) and touchdowns, while ranking second nationally among all tight ends in catches and yards.

A native of South River, NJ, Susan returned to New Jersey to join the Rutgers staff in 2001 after a memorable 2000 campaign, when he served as head coach at Davidson and led the Wildcats to a 10-0 record, the only unbeaten team in school history and a single season record for wins. That year, the Division I-AA Independents Sports Information Directors Association named him Coach of the Year. In 2000, Susan received a Presidential Citation from the University of Delaware for outstanding achievement.

Prior to the undefeated season at Davidson, Susan spent nine years as offensive coordinator at Princeton (1991-99). He also served briefly as offensive line coach at Memphis, before accepting the challenge to become the head coach at Davidson.

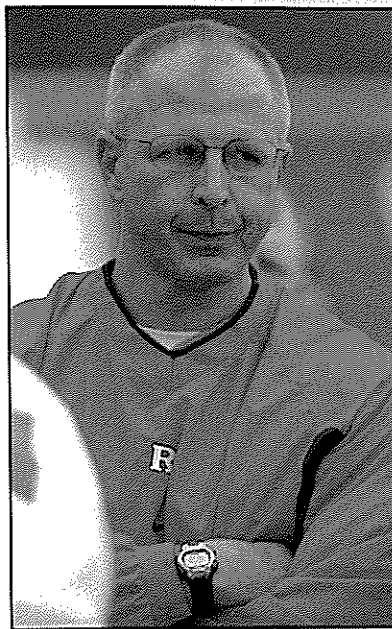

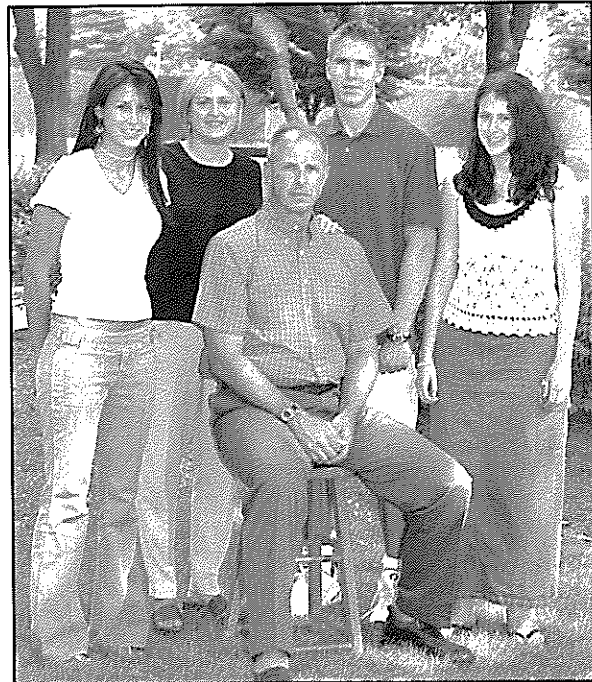

Susan was offensive line coach at Bucknell from 1981-88, when he took on the added responsibility as associate head coach for two seasons with the Bison. During his tenure at Bucknell, he recruited Rutgers head coach Greg Schiano to play for the Bison. Susan also recruited offensive lineman Jay Butler, who is presently the Scarlet Knights' strength and conditioning coordinator.

Susan enjoyed an outstanding playing career at Delaware (1973-76), as his teams compiled a 36-12-1 record in his tenure there. During his sophomore season, the Blue Hens were the NCAA Division II national runner-up.

Susan began his career in coaching in 1978 at Delaware, as a graduate assistant. After a year as an assistant at Gettysburg, he returned to his alma mater for one season.

Susan and his wife, Cynthia, are the parents of one son, Matthew, and daughters Jessica and Julia.

CRAIG VER STEEG

OFFENSIVE COORDINATOR/QUARTERBACKS COACH

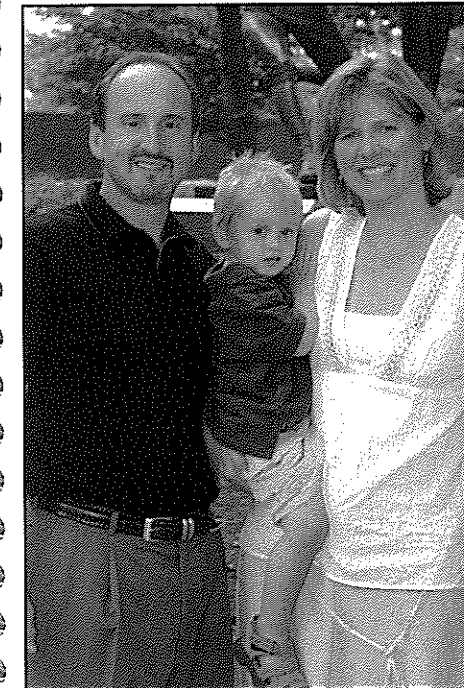

In his first two years as Rutgers' offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach, Craig Ver Steeg's impact has been easily seen. In his first season directing the offense in 2003, Ver Steeg oversaw a unit that tallied 329 points, the second-highest point total in school history, and had 4,423 yards total offense, also second-best all time at Rutgers. In 2004, the Scarlet Knights boasted the top-ranked passing offense in the BIG EAST, and the third-best in the conference in total offense.

Now in his third season with the Scarlet Knights, Ver Steeg (pronounced ver steg) came to Rutgers with a successful background as an offensive coach at four Division I institutions, as well as with the NFL's Chicago Bears. Prior to joining the Scarlet Knight staff, he served as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach for two seasons (2001-2002) at the University of Utah.

In his first season at Utah in 2001, Ver Steeg's offensive system helped the Utes improve 50-plus places nationally in most offensive categories. The 2001 Utes finished 24th in total offense, including 12th in rushing offense and 40th in scoring.

Prior to his stint at Utah, Ver Steeg was quarterbacks coach and recruiting coordinator at Illinois for four seasons (1997-00). Ver Steeg also served as quarterbacks coach, wide receivers coach and recruiting coordinator at Cincinnati (1990-93), and passing game coordinator, quarterbacks and wide receivers coach and recruiting coordinator at Harvard (1994-95). Schiano and Ver Steeg were both members of the NFL's Chicago Bears coaching staff during the 1996 and 1997 seasons.

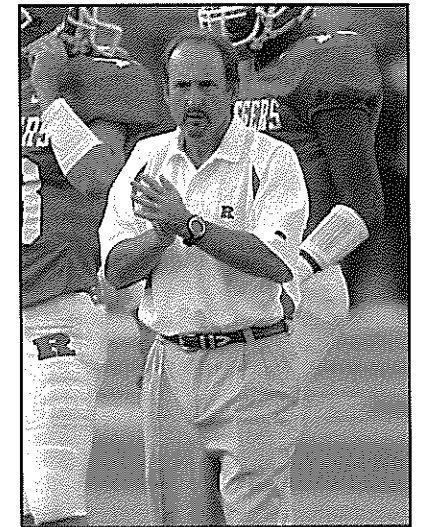

Ver Steeg has worked with quarterbacks since 1984, when he was a graduate assistant at Southern California. He held the same post at Utah in 1986-87 and 1989, and served as Utah's recruiting coordinator in 1988.

Ver Steeg's first full-time coaching position was at Cincinnati in 1990, where he coached the Bearcats' wide receivers for two seasons, followed by two years as quarterbacks coach and recruiting coordinator. In 1993, Cincinnati notched an 8-3 record, was ranked No. 27 in the nation, and was the Independent Football Alliance champion.

Among his pupils through the years, Ver Steeg has worked with record-setting Utah quarterback Scott Mitchell, who went on to play 12 seasons in the NFL. At Illinois, Ver Steeg worked with Kurt Kittner, who as a sophomore broke Jeff George's single-season record for TD passes with 24. Kittner was Illinois' MVP in 1999, and was also MVP of the Micronpc.com Bowl that year. Kittner, now with the Chicago Bears, led the Amsterdam Admirals to the NFL Europe Championship in June, 2005.

Ver Steeg graduated from Southern California in 1983 and received his master's degree from Southern California in 1986. He and his wife, Lisa, are the proud parents of one child, son Ian.

WALK-ONS MAKE CONTRIBUTION TO EFFORT

Rutgers' walk-on program has yielded several exceptional players, most notably current NFL veterans Gary Brackett (Indianapolis Colts) and Shaun O'Hara (New York Giants). This year, 16 returning walk-ons dot the Scarlet Knights roster, including six who saw playing time in 2004. Those who saw action include: Manny Collins, Joe Giacobbe, Ramel Meekins, Matt Mitchell, Brandon Renkart and Brandon Wood.

BIG EAST CONFERENCE FOOTBALL SCHEDULE RATED TOUGHEST IN THE COUNTRY BY CBS SPORTSLINE.COM

The BIG EAST Conference has the toughest football schedule strength in the nation according to CBS Sportsline.com. Seven of the top 12 teams in CBS Sportsline.com's strength of schedule rating are from the BIG EAST Conference. The BIG EAST was determined to have the toughest schedule strength overall largely because six of its eight teams went to bowls last season. Incoming BIG EAST members Louisville and Cincinnati, which each won bowl games last season, were included in that group.

THE BIG EAST CONFERENCE

A new era of BIG EAST Conference football begins in 2005. Joining Connecticut, Pittsburgh, Rutgers, Syracuse and West Virginia are three conference newcomers - the University of Cincinnati, University of Louisville and University of South Florida. A league that quickly established itself as a national force after its inception in 1991, now becomes that much stronger.

In 2004, five of the seven BIG EAST teams participated in bowl games. Two of the five emerged victorious, including Connecticut which went to its first bowl game and came home with a 39-10 victory over Toledo in the Motor City Bowl. Louisville and Cincinnati also earned bowl victories last season, with the Cardinals defeating Boise State, 44-40, in the AutoZone Liberty Bowl, and the Bearcats beating Marshall, 32-14, in the PlainsCapital Fort Worth Bowl.

Over the last five seasons, the BIG EAST has compiled one of the best winning percentages of any BCS conference in bowl games. BIG EAST Conference teams are 15-10 in postseason play since 2000. The BIG EAST has been a frequent contender for the national championship. Eight times in the league's 14 seasons a BIG EAST squad has been in a bowl game, playing for a claim to the national crown. A BIG EAST team has competed in the BCS championship game in three of the last six years.

The BIG EAST has always been proud of its football student-athletes for their academic achievements. In 2004, the BIG EAST had one of the eight national winners of the National Football Foundation Scholar-Athlete Award. West Virginia offensive lineman Jeff Berk was the BIG EAST representative. Four players were named to the CoSIDA Academic All-America Team. The honorees were Syracuse's Matt Tarullo (first team), Pittsburgh's Vince Crochunis and Dan Stephens (first team), and Berk (second team).

Since its birth, the BIG EAST has been a national power, both on and off the field. Commissioner Michael Tranchese served as coordinator of the BCS for two years from 2002-03. He has spearheaded the development of BIG EAST football since its beginning.

The BIG EAST Conference's entrance into football was announced on February 5, 1991. The league gained instant notice and credibility with its level of excellence on the field and with its television and bowl relationships. The BIG EAST has been a charter member of each of the major bowl agreements with conferences, beginning with The Bowl Coalition in 1992 followed by The Bowl Alliance in '95. The Bowl Championship Series began in '98 and will continue through the 2005 season. Recently, it was announced that the BIG EAST will continue as a founding member through the end of a new BCS agreement that will begin in 2006.

Extensive television exposure and the BIG EAST have been synonymous terms. For football, the league established its own regional television package in 1991 before it had played a game. The BIG EAST Television Network immediately was the largest regional college football network in the country.

The BIG EAST has television agreements with ABC and ESPN that run through the 2007 season. Both agreements ensure that ABC or ESPN telecasts a BIG EAST game virtually every week of the year.

ESPN Regional Television owns broadcasting rights for all telecasts not assigned to ABC or ESPN. ERT, which took over for the BIG EAST Network in 1996, produces and distributes additional games, including a BIG EAST Game of the Week, through syndication, local markets and pay-per-view.

The BIG EAST has always aligned itself with prestigious bowl games. The league champion plays in the Tostitos Fiesta, FedEx Orange, Nokia Sugar or Rose Bowls as part of its membership in the Bowl Championship Series.

The BIG EAST and the Toyota Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, Fla. have a multi-year pact, which allows the Gator Bowl to select a BIG EAST bowl-eligible team after the league's representative in the Bowl Championship Series has been determined.

The Insight Bowl, which is held in Phoenix, Ariz., is in its eighth year as a partner with the BIG EAST. The Meineke Car Care Bowl in Charlotte, N.C. is in its fourth year with the BIG EAST in 2005. BIG EAST teams have enjoyed plenty of success in recent years. League squads have played in 23 bowl games on or after New Year's Day.

2004 SEASON REVIEW

SEASON RECAP

Rutgers opened its 2004 season with a 19-14 win over Michigan State from the Big Ten Conference at a sold-out Rutgers Stadium, and later posted a 37-34 win at Vanderbilt of the SEC, a game in which Rutgers managed the largest comeback in program history. RU won four of its first six games in 2004 - its best start since 1993.

Rutgers featured the nation's No. 6 passing offense behind QB Ryan Hart, who set school records for attempts (453), completions (295) and yards (3,154), WR Tres Moses, who set single-season marks for catches (81) and yards (1,054), and TE Clark Harris, who led all BIG EAST tight ends in catches (53) and yards (725). RB Brian Leonard amassed 100 or more all-purpose yards in each of his 10 games, averaging 125.0/contest, just shy of the league lead.

Defensively, Rutgers received another solid season from graduated SS Jarvis Johnson, who led RU in tackles (75) for the second-straight year. CB Joe Porter, with a team-leading five INT's, registered the second-most interceptions in the BIG EAST and the most at Rutgers since 1983. True freshman FS Ron Girault finished the year with 61 tackles, including 56 over his final six games once he broke into the starting lineup. Defensive end Ryan Neill returned to action after sitting out the 2003 season and was among the BIG EAST leaders in sacks (8.0) and TFL (13.0) while registering 43 tackles.

FIVE PLAYERS EARN ALL-BIG EAST HONORS

Five members of the Rutgers football team earned All-BIG EAST honors, as selected by the league's head coaches. Earning first-team honors were wide receiver Tres Moses, tight end Clark Harris, fullback Brian Leonard and defensive end Ryan Neill. Named to the second team was offensive lineman John Glass. It was the fourth time overall, but first since 1994, that Rutgers placed five players on All-BIG EAST teams.

MOSES SETS RU SINGLE-SEASON YARDAGE MARK; PRODUCES SECOND-MOST CATCHES IN BIG EAST HISTORY

Tres Moses caught seven passes for 168 yards in the season finale vs. UConn and, in the process, became the Rutgers single-season leader in receiving yards with 1,056, breaking All-American tight end Marco Battaglia's record of 894, set in 1995. Over the final eight games of the 2004 season, Moses had 948 receiving yards and closed the season with a career-high 168 yards, which ranks as the 11th-best single-game effort in school history.

ALSO OF NOTE:

With 81 catches in 11 games (7.36/game), Moses set the BIG EAST single-season record for catches per game, set in 2003 by Pittsburgh's Larry Fitzgerald (7.08/game).

LEONARD PACES BACKS NATIONALLY AND IN BIG EAST

In addition to ranking fifth in the BIG EAST in rushing at 73.2 yards per game, Brian Leonard led all BIG EAST running backs in catches (61) and receiving yards (518). He ranked second overall (behind Moses) in catches per game and ninth in receiving yards. On a national level, Leonard ranked first among RB's and 19th overall in receptions/game and receiving yards/game.

NATIONAL HONORS FOR LEONARD

In addition to earning first-team All-BIG EAST honors, fullback Brian Leonard was named to the 2004 All-America First Team by Pro Football Weekly. Place kicker Jeremy Ito was also accorded All-America honors, as he was named third team Freshman All-America by The Sporting News.

PILCH EARNS COSIDA DISTRICT II ACADEMIC HONORS

Senior center Ray Pilch was named to the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA) Academic All-District 2 Football Team. A first team honoree in 2003, Pilch earned First Team honors again in 2004.

A criminal justice major, Pilch had a 3.309 grade-point average in his final season with the Scarlet Knights. A tri-captain and the team's starting center, Pilch started at three positions for Rutgers after joining the team as a walk-on in the spring of 2001. He also started at fullback and tight end during his career.

HART CONTINUES CLIMB UP PASSING LISTS

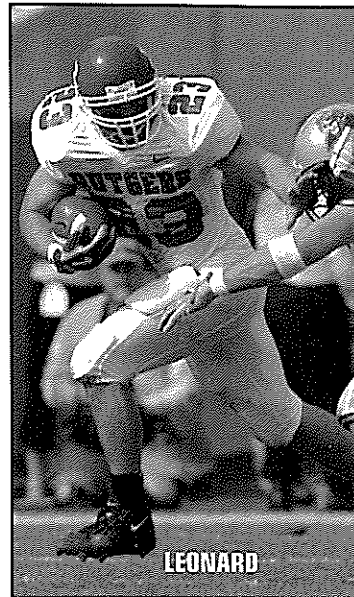

With 3,154 passing yards, Ryan Hart became the first RU signal caller to throw for over 3,000 yards. Hart closed out the 2004 season with 6,347 career yards, which ranks third all-time in Rutgers history. He is also second in career completions (580) and third in attempts (962). Hart also moved into fourth place on the career TD list (34) and, for the second-straight year, set the single-season passing yardage mark.

FIVE SCARLET KNIGHTS EARN BIG EAST WEEKLY HONORS

During the 2004 season, Rutgers players earned five BIG EAST weekly awards. Following the season opening win vs. Michigan State, Ryan Neill was named Defensive Player of the Week and Jeremy Ito earned Special Teams Player of the Week honors, while Ryan Hart was named the BIG EAST Offensive Player of the Week for the week ending Sunday, Oct. 10. Following RU's win over Temple, Ron Girault (Defense) and Ito (Special Teams) were honored.

2004 SEASON REVIEW

BIG EAST ALL-ACADEMIC TEAM

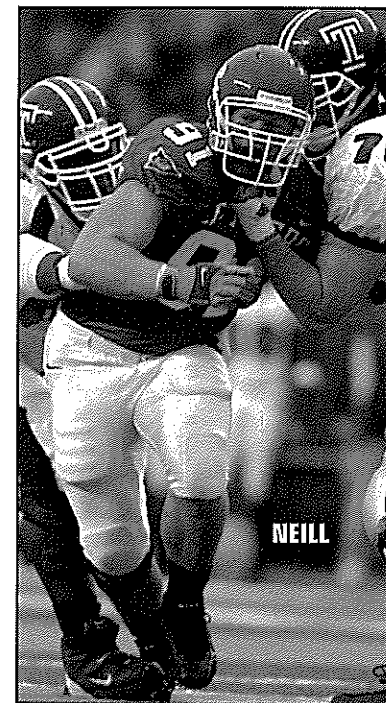

Four members of the Rutgers football team were among a group of 42 student-athletes named to the 2004 BIG EAST All-Academic Football Team. Heading the Rutgers contingent was senior center Ray Pilch, who was one of just four BIG EAST student-athletes named to the team for the fourth consecutive year. Pilch, of Piscataway, NJ, was also a three-time CoSIDA Academic All-America (District II) during his career as a Scarlet Knight. Also earning BIG EAST All-Academic honors were fullback Brian Leonard, defensive end Ryan Neill and safety Brandon Wood. Leonard and Neill were two of nine players who earned All-BIG EAST honors on the field in the fall, and also made the academic squad. The All-Academic Team recognizes letterwinners who have posted a cumulative grade point average of 3.0 or better. Student-athletes who have completed a minimum of two semesters of academic work and earned a letter are eligible. It was the 13th consecutive season the BIG EAST has honored its student-athletes with an academic team.

HARRIS IS BIG EAST'S MOST PRODUCTIVE TIGHT END

Sophomore TE Clark Harris began the season on the John Mackey Award watch list (nation's top TE) and ended the year as the BIG EAST's most productive tight end. Harris led all BIG EAST tight ends in catches (53) and yards (725), and ranked second nationally in receiving yards/game (65.91) and catches (4.82), trailing Texas Tech's Trey Haverty (69 catches, 872 yards). Harris produced three, 100-yard efforts in 2004 and 725 total yards - the 10th-highest total in school history.

PORTER'S FIVE INTERCEPTIONS THE MOST SINCE 1983

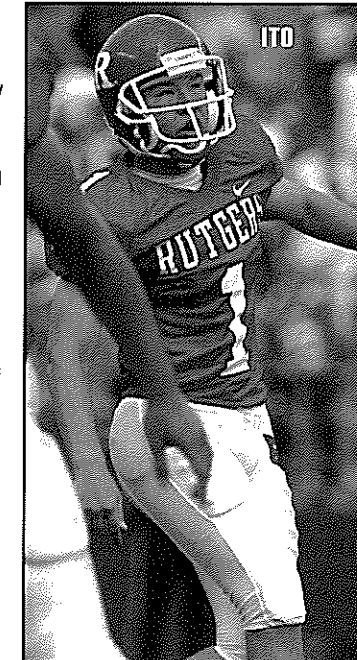

When Joe Porter picked off his fifth pass of the season vs. UConn (Nov. 25), it marked Rutgers' highest total since 1983, when Bill Houston had six. Porter was also second in the BIG EAST behind BC's Ray Henderson, who had six.

NEILL MAKES

TRIUMPHANT COMEBACK

Defensive end Ryan Neill, who missed the final three games in 2002 and all of 2003 following a severe knee injury, returned to his starting role with the Scarlet Knights last season without missing a beat and was among their most productive performers on either side of the ball. Neill was first among defensive linemen on the team with 43 tackles, including a team-high 13.0 tackles-for-loss, and 8.0 sacks. He finished second in the BIG EAST in sacks per game (0.73) and fourth in TFL's per game (1.18). In addition, Neill was fifth in the conference in tackles (3.9/game) among defensive linemen.

ITO MAKES IMMEDIATE IMPACT

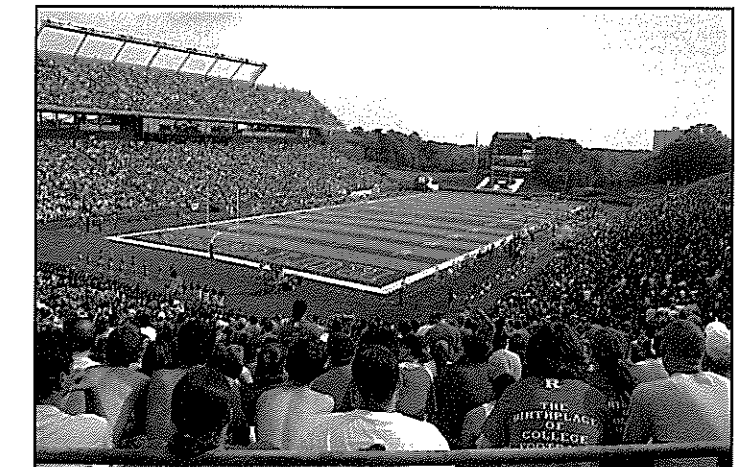

Freshman K. Jeremy Ito made the cross-country journey from Redlands, CA to Piscataway, NJ (2,735 miles) for his collegiate football career and the trip was well worth it. Ito converted 15-of-24 field goals (62.5%), although six of his misses came from 45 or more yards, including three from 50-plus. Ito nailed six FG's over 40 yards in 2004 - one more than the Scarlet Knights converted in the previous four years combined. In the season opener vs. Michigan State, Ito drilled four field goals, including a 47-yarder on his fifth attempt. A week later, Ito tied the Rutgers Stadium mark with a 48-yard conversion vs. UNH (9/11) and connected on both attempts vs. Kent State. Ito was second nationally among freshmen in FG's and 19th overall.

RUTGERS LEADS BIG EAST IN SACKS

The Scarlet Knights led the BIG EAST in sack differential (+11), and did not allow a sack in either of their first two victories - a 19-14 win over Michigan State (9/4) and a 29-21 win over Kent State (9/18). The RU defense, meanwhile, recorded 31 sacks in 11 games and led the conference in that category - with five more than second-place WVU (26).

RUTGERS PUTS UP BEST ATTENDANCE TOTALS SINCE '94

Triggered by a Rutgers Stadium crowd of 42,612 in its season opener vs. Michigan State on Sept. 4, the Scarlet Knights averaged 30,994 fans for its six home contests in 2004, and the highest total since 1994 (31,470), which ranks first in school history.

RICHARD L. McCORMICK

PRESIDENT OF THE UNIVERSITY

Richard L. McCormick became the 19th president of Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey, on December 1, 2002. Among Dr. McCormick's key priorities are maintaining and enhancing Rutgers' academic quality and connecting the university more deeply to the people of New Jersey – with human goals in mind, not just rankings.

Prior to becoming president of Rutgers, Dr. McCormick enjoyed a distinguished career as a faculty member, scholar, and university administrator. After earning his B.A. in American studies from Amherst College in 1969 and his Ph.D. in history from Yale University in 1976, Dr. McCormick began his career as an assistant professor of history at Rutgers–New Brunswick/Piscataway. He rose through the ranks to become professor of history (1985), chair of the Department of History (1987–1989), and dean of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences (1989–1992). From Rutgers, Dr. McCormick moved in 1992 to the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, where he served as executive vice chancellor, provost and vice chancellor for academic affairs. In 1995 he became president of the University of Washington where he served until returning to Rutgers in 2002.

The author of three books and numerous articles, Dr. McCormick is a recognized scholar of American political history. In 1985, he held a John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation Fellowship as well as a Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars Fellowship. Dr. McCormick is actively involved in the work of a number of national and international education organizations including the Association of American Universities, the Business-Higher Education Forum, and the Council of Presidents of the Association of Governing Boards of Universities and Colleges. In 2004, Dr. McCormick was appointed to Governor James E. McGreevey's Commission to Support and Enhance New Jersey Military and Coast Guard Installations.

RUTGERS TODAY

Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey, with more than 51,000 students on campuses in Camden, Newark, and New Brunswick/Piscataway and more than 340,000 living alumni, is New Jersey's flagship public research university and one of the nation's major state universities. Devoted to shaping New Jersey's future, Rutgers is a vibrant, diverse, and cohesive community that capitalizes on its many strengths to benefit residents in every corner of the state, from financiers and farmers to educators and engineers.

Rutgers is a member of the prestigious Association of American Universities, a group comprising the top public and private research universities in North America, among them Harvard, Princeton, the University of Michigan, and the University of California at Berkeley. As a leading comprehensive university, Rutgers' research, teaching, and service initiatives resonate around the globe, from aiding fledgling democracies in the former Soviet states to collaborating internationally on promising new therapies for victims of spinal cord injuries. In every facet of human endeavor, the people of Rutgers are a force for creating a better society. They are ambassadors for the state of New Jersey, and their collective accomplishment is a measure of the best that New Jersey has to offer.

A PROUD HISTORY

Rutgers has a unique history as a colonial college, a land-grant institution, and a state university. Chartered in 1766 as Queen's College, the eighth institution of higher learning to be founded in the colonies, the school opened its doors in New Brunswick in 1771. During this early period, the college developed as a classical liberal arts institution. In 1825, the name of the college was changed to Rutgers to honor a former trustee and Revolutionary War veteran, Colonel Henry Rutgers.

Rutgers College became the land-grant college of New Jersey in 1864. Further expansion in the sciences came with the founding of the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station in 1880, the College of Engineering (now the School of Engineering) in 1914, and the College of Agriculture (now Cook College) in 1921. The precursors to several other Rutgers divisions were also founded during this period: the College of Pharmacy (now the Ernest Mario School of Pharmacy) in 1892, the New Jersey College for Women (now Douglass College) in 1918, and the School of Education (now a graduate school) in 1924.

Rutgers College assumed university status in 1924, and legislative acts in 1945 and 1956 designated all its divisions as the State University of New Jersey. During these years, the university expanded significantly with the founding of an evening division, University College, in 1934, and the addition of the University of Newark (now Rutgers–Newark) in 1946 and the College of South Jersey at Camden (now Rutgers–Camden) in 1950. After World War II, enrollment, degree programs, and research activity grew rapidly. In 1989, Rutgers was elected to membership in the Association of American Universities.

Today, Rutgers continues to grow, both in its facilities and in the variety and depth of its educational and research programs. The university's goals for the future include the continued provision of the highest quality undergraduate and graduate education along with increased support for outstanding research to meet the needs of society and to fulfill Rutgers' role as the State University of New Jersey.

ROBERT E. MULCAHY III DIRECTOR OF INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS

Innovation, achievement and excellence have been the hallmarks of Robert Mulcahy's tenure as Director of Athletics at Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey. Since coming to Rutgers in 1998, Mulcahy has been the guiding force in the continued growth and development of the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics. He is committed to the ideal that Rutgers Athletics will provide the best possible experience for its student-athletes.

Mulcahy's vision for Rutgers Athletics has led the division to unprecedented growth and accomplishment. Wide-ranging improvements in facilities have allowed the division to function at greater efficiency, thus enabling opportunity for greater success for Rutgers student-athletes, both in the classroom and on the playing field.

With a strategic plan now in place, Mulcahy has brought reality to this vision. He has been responsible for raising the division's endowment by $4 million, and was instrumental in developing and securing outside revenue totaling $24 million, resulting in the renovation, and construction, of a number of facilities.

Capital projects from this funding include the expansion and enhancement of the Hale Center, allowing that facility to become one of the finest of its kind nationally, with an expansive strength and conditioning facility, a state of the art training room and academic support facilities which include classrooms, study rooms and computer labs. Rutgers Stadium has enjoyed significant enhancements under Mulcahy's watch, as well, and now features a state-of-the-art scoreboard and Field Turf playing surface, all helping to ensure the best possible experience for student-athletes and fans.

Other projects have resulted in a modern, state-of-the-art academic support laboratory in the Louis Brown Athletic Center, as well as an expanded weight training complex, and a modern media headquarters and interview room. Office space for coaches and administrators was a priority that has come to fruition, allowing the senior athletic administration to be centrally located in the LBAC for the first time, while future plans call for the continued upgrading of the LBAC.

Mulcahy has made significant upgrades in the area of academic support, which has been reflected by substantial gains in the classroom by student-athletes. The division remains committed to its goal of exceeding the grade point average of the general student population. Increased academic support has included the addition of full-time personnel, computer labs and tutorial services. Programs such as the comprehensive RU Strong/LifeSkills have been bolstered to help ensure a positive and meaningful experience for the Rutgers student-athlete.

Under Mulcahy's leadership, Rutgers student-athletes are standouts in the community as well. Among the many projects they organize and participate in are the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee annual Holiday Toy Drive, a University-wide Blood Drive, the Read Across America program, and visits to area hospitals.

The Annual Report, which chronicles the division's achievements and goals and was produced for the first time ever following the 1998-99 academic year under Mulcahy's direction, includes the cumulative grade point averages of each varsity team.

The Division continues to be a leader in its commitment to gender equity, and has increased funding for scholarships and facility improvements in that area.

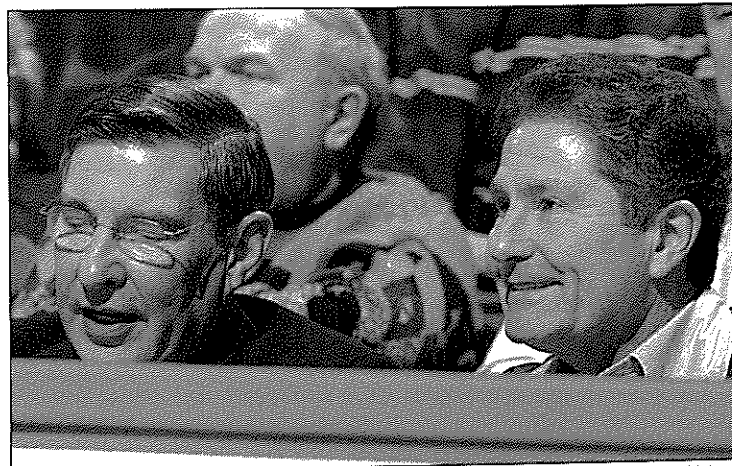

Mulcahy has also overseen the institution of a comprehensive marketing and promotional plan to further increase corporate revenue and enhance the overall image of the athletic program. Corporate sponsorship has risen each year during Mulcahy's administration, and will continue to expand as Rutgers Athletics maintains its sponsorship with one of the nation's leading firms, Nelligan Sports Marketing.

All the while, the Rutgers athletic program continues to grow and improve on the field of play.

In 2004-05, the women's basketball team won the BIG EAST Conference's regular season championship and eventually advanced to the NCAA Tournament's Elite Eight, its seventh NCAA appearance in eight years (including a 2000 Women's Final Four in 2000). In a week-long span in the middle of the season, the Scarlet Knights defeated three Top 10 teams (including the No. 1 squad at the time), serving notice that Rutgers has achieved its rightful place among the nation's elite.

The Rutgers men's track and field team enjoyed perhaps its best season in school history in 2004-05, winning the 2005 BIG EAST Conference Outdoor Championship, and claiming both the IC4A Indoor and Outdoor titles. The Scarlet Knights' men's golf team enjoyed its most successful campaign in more than two decades and earned a berth in the NCAA Tournament, and the Rutgers gymnastics team stepped to the fore by winning the USAG Collegiate National Championship.

There were plenty more superb events in 2004-05. The football program, and the entire University, were showcased in the memorable 2004 season-opening win over Michigan State before a sellout crowd and ABC-TV audience on Labor Day Weekend, and the men's basketball team hosted seven sellout crowds and attracted the third-highest attendance figure in school history.

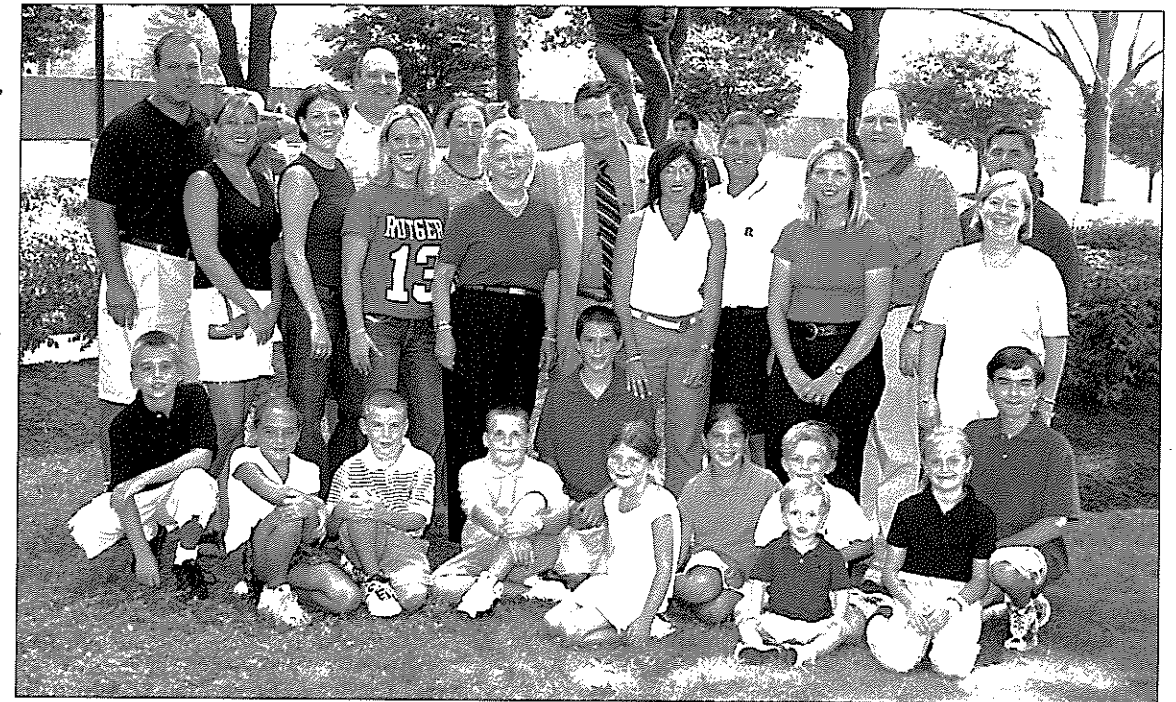

Mulcahy has also put great emphasis on the composition and performance of the Scarlet Knights' coaching staff, which has proven to be a major strength of the program. In 2004-05, six members of the coaching staff were honored as "Coach of the Year" by their respective conferences/organizations.

Mulcahy came to Rutgers on April 15, 1998, after an extraordinary 19-year tenure as President and CEO of the New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority. Under Mulcahy's leadership, the NJSEA developed into the nation's premier sports and entertainment venue. Among his noteworthy achievements at the Meadowlands included establishing New Jersey as the home of the finest college athletic competition in the country, including the creation of the Kickoff Classic Football Game, attracting the Army-Navy game to the facility on three occasions, and hosting eight NCAA Men's Basketball Eastern Regionals and the last Final Four ever to be held in an Arena, in 1996. Mulcahy led the negotiations that resulted in the NHL's Devils, the NFL's Jets, and Major League Soccer's MetroStars calling the Meadowlands their home.

Mulcahy's leadership at the NJSEA helped develop legislation which led to it overseeing the reconstruction of Rutgers Stadium and building new soccer, lacrosse and track and field facilities in 1994. The Sports and Exposition Authority matured from primarily a horse racing and professional football business into a statewide engine for sports, entertainment and exposition development during Mulcahy's tenure. By the end of his tenure at the Meadowlands, the Sports Complex was hosting 600 events a year, drawing seven million visitors annually to such attractions as the Giants, Jets, Devils, Nets, and horse racing, as well as a broad variety of family shows and concerts.

Mulcahy's lifelong passion for scholastic and college athletics, and his undying commitment to public service, has not gone unnoticed. The New York Times described his tenure with the NJSEA as one of "quiet fervor and foresight, establishing the Meadowlands as one of the nation's leading sports and entertainment complexes." The Newark Star Ledger hailed the holding of the NCAA Final Four, an event that was co-hosted by Rutgers, in New Jersey as "the miracle of the Meadowlands."

In recognition of his years of service to the Garden States sports world, Bob Mulcahy was inducted into the prestigious New Jersey Sports Hall of Fame in 1999, joining such luminaries as Yogi Berra, Jerry Izenberg, Vince Lombardi, Bill Parcells, Willis Reed and Phil Simms.

Among his many professional affiliations, Mulcahy serves on the Board of the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame, is Chair of its Awards Committee, is an honorary member of the American Football Coaches' Association, and serves or has served on the Boards of several business and charitable corporations.

Mulcahy, a graduate of Villanova University (AB in History, 1958), has received several awards from his alma mater, including the Medal of Excellence from the College of Arts and Sciences, the Alumni Medal, and the James "Jumbo" Elliot Achievement Award. Among other honors, his most prized awards include the Knight of St. Gregory medal, received from Pope John Paul II, and the Ellis Island Medal of Honor.

After 37 years in Mendham, Bob and his wife Terry relocated to Basking Ridge. They are the parents of seven children, and also have 11 grandchildren.

"Our goal continues to be graduating well-rounded student-athletes who can use the lessons learned in the classroom and on the field to become leaders in society. To continue to achieve our vision, we must ensure that our student-athletes are afforded the best possible opportunities in their highly-competitive environments. Our strategic plan, a larger endowment, and expanded, state-of-the-art facilities are cornerstones of this vision of excellence." – Robert E. Mulcahy, III

RUTGERS UNIVERSITY

IN 2004-05...

- Each year, student-athletes at Rutgers manage to eclipse the previous years' academic achievements. The 2004-05 scholastic year was no different, as 25 student-athletes earned a 4.0 grade point average in the fall of 2004, while 35 earned a 4.0 in the spring 2005 semester. In total, 10 student-athletes had a 4.0 in each semester, and 50 student-athletes recorded a perfect GPA in at least one semester this year.
- The number of student-athletes who received a 3.0 GPA or higher rose again this past year, with 331 student-athletes achieving that mark in the fall and 326 in the spring. Of those who earned a 3.0 GPA or higher, 138 earned a 3.5 or higher in the fall, and an astounding 163 earned a 3.5 or higher GPA in the spring - exactly half the student-athletes who earned a 3.0 or better. Still more impressive was the number of student-athletes who earned a 3.8 GPA or better, with 60 in the fall and 75 in the spring reaching or eclipsing that mark.
- More than 115 student-athletes earned their degree from Rutgers, the State University of New Jersey during this scholastic year. Rutgers, which continues to exceed the national standard for graduation of student-athletes, boasted more graduating student-athletes each of the last four years. In fact, nearly double the number of student-athletes graduated from Rutgers during this scholastic year than in 2002.
- Ray Pilch of the football team was named to the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA) Academic All-District II Football Team. Pilch was selected to the CoSIDA Academic All-District II First Team for a second consecutive year. He earned All-District II second team honors in 2002. A criminal justice major, Pilch graduated in May, while earning a 3.5 grade-point average during his final season with the Scarlet Knights.
- The Rutgers University Division of Intercollegiate Athletics, in conjunction with the NCAA, has released initial Academic Progress Rates (APR) based on the fall 2003 and spring 2004 semesters. Rutgers' student-athletes receiving athletics scholarships combined for a score of 962, which is above the national Division I average of 948. Included in Rutgers' report were seven teams that achieved a score of 1000 (men's and women's golf, gymnastics, women's crew, softball, women's tennis and volleyball). The Scarlet Knights' football team received a score of 980, which was fourth in the nation, behind only Stanford, Duke and Navy.
- The Rutgers women's basketball program was presented Ceremonial Resolutions by both houses of the New Jersey state legislature in recognition of the team's outstanding accomplishments during the 2004-2005 season. The New Jersey Senate acknowledged the Scarlet Knights May 12, and the New Jersey Assembly offered its recognition May 16 as a part of the annual "Rutgers Day in Trenton" event.
- Each team is represented by two student-athletes who serve on the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee (SAAC), providing communication to and from the team and the athletic administration regarding all aspects of the intercollegiate athletic experience. The SAAC seeks all student-athletes' participation in projects such as the Toy Drive and Color Games where they have a great opportunity to help in the community, meet other student-athletes, compete in fun games and socialize.

IN 2004-05...

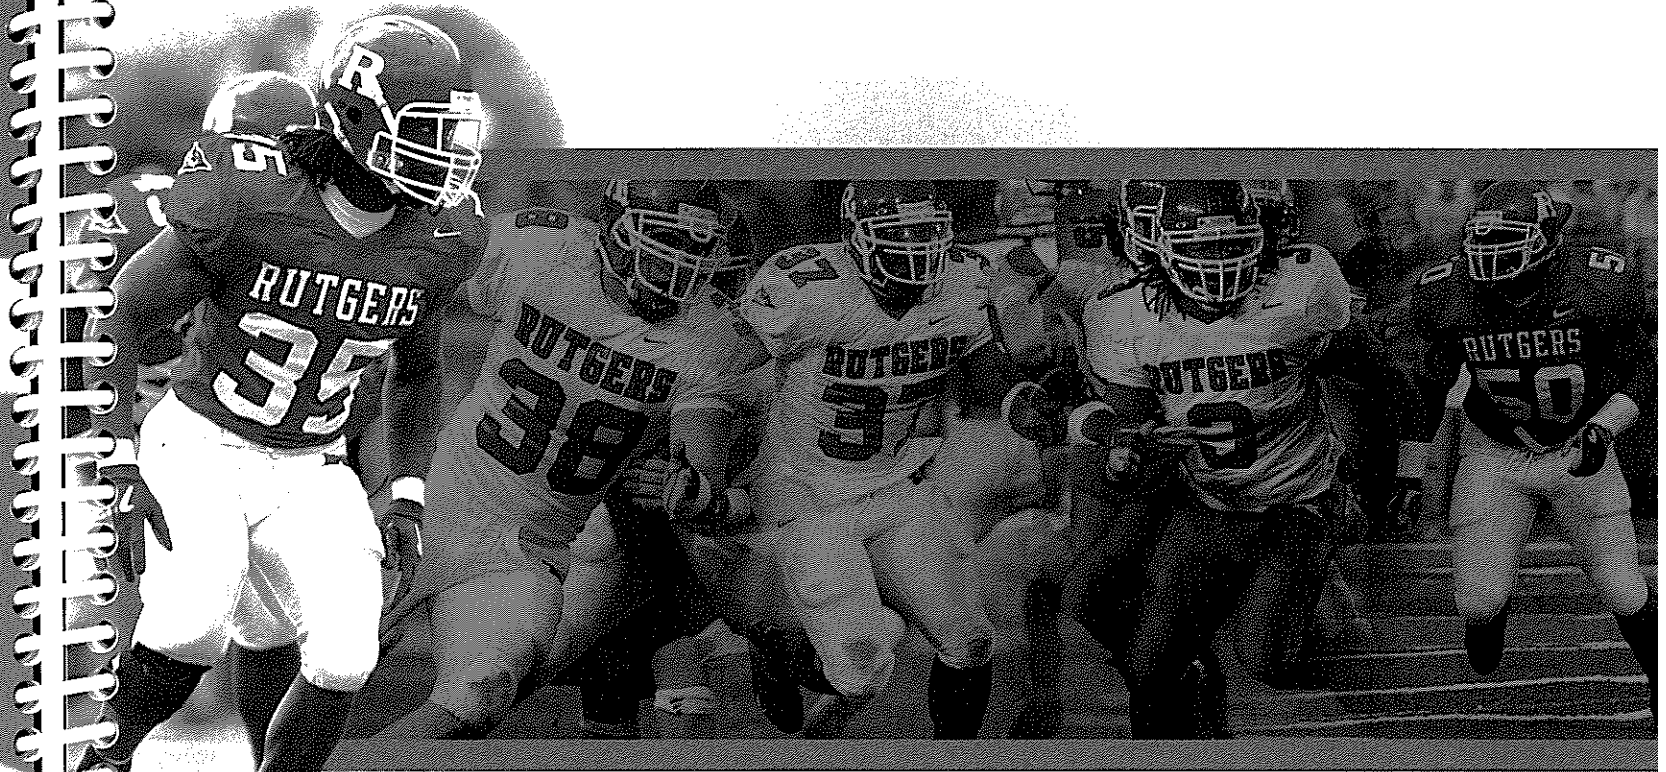

- The women's basketball team posted a 28-7 overall record and a 14-2 mark in the BIG EAST Conference to win its first-ever outright BIG EAST regular-season title and first top seed in the BIG EAST Tournament. The Scarlet Knights advanced to the championship game of the BIG EAST Tournament and the regional final of the NCAA Tournament, finishing the season ranked seventh nationally.
- Head coach C. Vivian Stringer became the fourth Division I women's basketball coach to amass 700 career wins with Rutgers' 68-46 victory over Princeton. Stringer was also named the BIG EAST Women's Basketball Coach of the Year and a finalist for the Naismith National Coach-of-the-Year award. Junior Cappie Pondexter was named an All-American by the Associated Press (third team), Full Court Press (third team) and Kodak/WBCA (honorable mention). Matee Ajavon was named the BIG EAST Rookie of the Year, while senior Chelsea Newton earned BIG EAST Defensive Player of the Year honors becoming one of two RU players (along with Rebecca Richman) to be selected in the 2005 WNBA draft.
- The men's track and field team won its first-ever outdoor BIG EAST Championship, tying a meet record with 192 team points. Sam Segond was named Most Outstanding Field Performer, while David Klics was the co-Most Outstanding Track Performer. Segond set meet records in the discus and shot put during the three-day event. The Rutgers coaching staff, led by head coach Mike Mulqueen, garnered its third Coaching Staff of the Year honors (2004 Outdoor, 2005 Indoor, 2005 Outdoor). Two weeks later, the men's team captured its first-ever IC4A Championship and later sent Segond and Marquis Allen to the NCAA Championships. Both returned with All-America honors.
- Several coaches recorded milestone victories and picked up impressive awards during the 2004-2005 season. Volleyball coach Ann Leonard-House recorded her 350th career win with a 3-0 victory over West Virginia on November 7 while wrestling's John Sacchi, the winningest active coach in the nation, picked up Rutgers win No. 150 during the season. Baseball coach Fred Hill, the all-time winningest coach at Rutgers in any sport, reached the 700-win mark with a 9-8 victory over Monmouth University during his team's eighth-straight 30-win season.
- In addition to C. Vivian Stringer's BIG EAST Coach of the Year award, gymnastics head coach Chrystal Chollet-Norton was named the 2005 USAG National Coach of the Year after leading her team to a first-place finish. During the spring, Maura Waters (men's golf) and Mickey Cook (men's tennis) were named BIG EAST Coach of the Year in their respective sports, joining Mike Mulqueen and his men's track and field staff. Waters led the men's golf team to the NCAA Tournament, while Cook guided his squad to the finals of the BIG EAST Tournament.
- Swimmers Kelly Harrigan and Sean Smith earned BIG EAST Most Outstanding Swimmer honors to lead their teams in competition. Harrigan then captured All-America honors with a sixth-place finish in the 200 backstroke at the NCAA meet.

THE FIRST FOOTBALL GAME

Rutgers University and its neighbor, Princeton, played the first game of intercollegiate football on Nov. 6, 1869, on a plot of ground where the present-day Rutgers gymnasium now stands in New Brunswick, N.J. Rutgers won that first game, 6-4.

The game was played with two teams of 25 men each under rugby-like rules, but like modern football, it was "replete with surprise, strategy, prodigies of determination and physical prowess," to use the words of one of the Rutgers players.

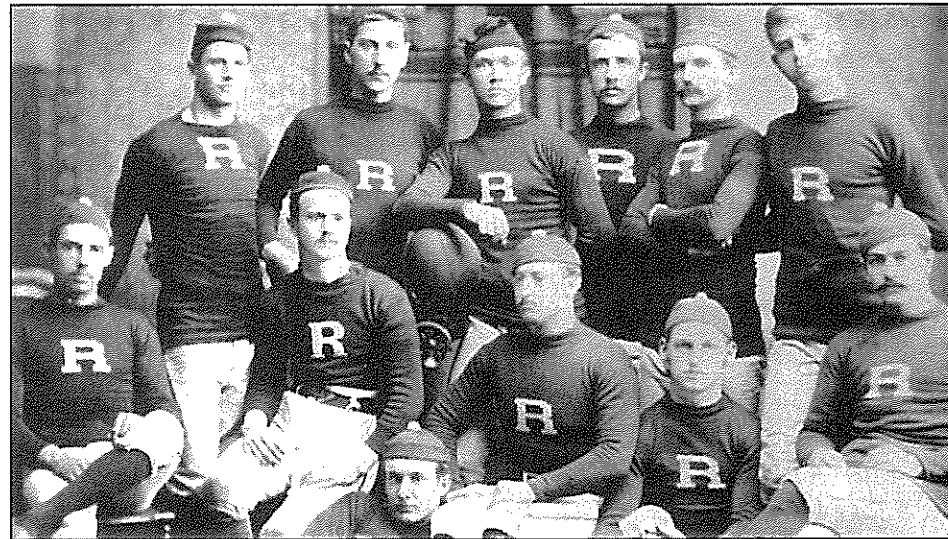

William J. Leggett, the captain of the Rutgers team who later became a distinguished clergyman of the Dutch Reformed Church, suggested that rules for the contest be adopted from those of the London Football Association. Leggett's proposal was accepted by Captain William Gunmere of Princeton, who later became Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of New Jersey.

At 3 p.m. on that memorable afternoon, the 50 combatants and about 100 spectators gathered on the field. Most of the assemblage sat on a low wooden fence and watched the athletes doff hats, coats and vests and use suspenders as belts. To distinguish themselves from the bareheaded visitors, 50 Rutgers students, including players, donned scarlet-colored scarfs which they converted into turbans.

The teams lined up with two members of each team remaining more or less stationary near the opponent's goal in the hopes of being able to slip over and score from unguarded positions. Thus, the present day "sleeper" was conceived. The remaining 23 players were divided into groups of 11 and 12. While the 11 "fielders" lined up in their own territory as defenders, the 12 "bulldogs" carried the ball.

Each score counted as a "game" and 10 games completed the contest. Following each score, the teams changed direction. The ball could be advanced only by kicking or batting it with the feet, hands, heads or sides.

Events leading up to the game were described by John W. Herbert, Rutgers '72, who was one of the players: "To appreciate this game to the fullest you must know something of its background," Herbert wrote in 1933. "The two colleges were, and still are, of course, about 20 miles apart. The rivalry between them was intense. For years each had striven for possession of an old Revolutionary cannon, making night forays and lugging it back and forth time and again. Not long before the first football game, the canny Princetonians had settled this competition in their own favor by ignominiously sinking the gun in several feet of concrete. In addition to this, I regret to report, Princeton had beaten Rutgers in baseball by the harrowing score of 40-2. Rutgers longed for a chance to square things."

A challenge for the game was issued by Rutgers. Three games were to be played that year. The first, played at New Brunswick, was won by Rutgers. Princeton won the second game, but cries of "over-emphasis" prevented the third game in football's first year when faculties of both institutions protested on the grounds that the games were interfering with student studies.

Herbert gave this detailed account of the play in the first game: "Though smaller on the average, the Rutgers players, as it developed, had ample speed and fine football sense. Receiving the ball, our men formed a perfect interference around it and with short, skillful kicks and dribbles drove it down the field. Taken by surprise, the Princeton men fought valiantly, but in five minutes we had gotten the ball through to our captains on the enemy's goal and S.G. Gano, '71 and G.R. Dixon, '73, neatly kicked it over. None thought of it, so far as I know, but we had without previous plan or thought evolved the play that became famous a few years later as 'the flying wedge'."

Herbert then related that his teammates failed to note a conference the Princeton's captain was holding with the giant of the Tiger team, J.E. Michael, '71, known to his mates as "Big Mike."

"Next period Rutgers bucked, or received the ball, hoping to repeat the flying wedge," Herbert's account continues. "But the first time we formed it Big Mike came charging full upon us. It was our turn for surprise. The Princeton battering ram made no attempt to reach the ball but, forerunner of the interference-breaking ends of today, threw himself into our mass play, bursting us apart, and bowing us over. Time and again Rutgers formed the wedge and charged; as often Big Mike broke it up. And finally on one of these incredible break-ups a Princeton bulldog with a long accurate, perhaps lucky kick, sent the ball between the posts for the second score."

"The flying wedge thus checkmated, Rutgers might have been in a bad spot had not Madison Ball, '73, come through. He had a trick of kicking the ball with his heel. All the game he had been a puzzle to the Princetonians. The ball would be rolling toward the Rutgers goal, and, running ahead of it instead of taking time to turn, he would heel it back. He made several such plays, greatly encouraging his team. Then he capped all this by one tremendous lucky backward drive directly to Dixon, standing squarely before Princeton's goal...Dixon easily scored, giving us a one-goal lead. Big Mike again rose, however, in a berserk endeavor, and, getting the ball, he called the Princeton men into a flying wedge of their own and straight-away they took the ball right down the field and put it over."

THE FIRST FOOTBALL GAME

It was at this point that a Rutgers professor could stand it no longer. Waving his umbrella at the participants, he shrieked, "you will come to no Christian end!"

Herbert's account of the game continues: "The fifth and sixth goals went to Rutgers. The stars of the latter period of play, in the memory of the players after the lapse of many years, were "Big Mike" and Large (former State Senator George H. Large of Flemington, another Princeton player). Someone by a random kick had driven the ball to one side, where it rolled against the fence and stopped. Large led the pursuit for the ball closely followed by Michael. They reached the fence on which students were perched, and unable to check their momentum, in a tremendous impact they struck it. The fence then gave way with a crash and over went the band of yelling students to the ground."

"Every college probably has the humorous tradition of some player who has scored against his own team. This tradition at Rutgers dated from this first game, for one of her players, whose identity is unknown, in the sixth period started to kick the ball between his own goal posts. The kick was blocked, but Princeton took advantage of the opportunity and soon made the goal. This turn of the game apparently disorganized Rutgers, for Princeton also scored the next goal after a few minutes of play, thus bringing the total up to four all."

At this point Leggett introduced strategy to turn the tide in favor of Rutgers. Noticing that Princeton obtained a great advantage from its taller players, Leggett ordered his men to keep the ball close to the ground. Following this strategy, Rutgers kicked the ninth and tenth goals, thus winning the match.

An analytical account of the game appeared in the November, 1869 issue of the Targum, Rutgers' undergraduate newspaper.

"To describe the varying fortunes of the match, game by game, would be a waste of labor for every game was like the one before," wrote the student reporter. "There was the same headlong running, wild shouting, and frantic kicking."

"In every game the cool goaltenders saved the Rutgers goal half a dozen times; in every game the heavy charger of the Princeton side overthrew everything he came in contact with; and in every game, just when the interest in one of those delightful rushes at the fence was culminating, the persecuted ball would fly for refuge into the next lot, and produce cessation of hostilities until, after the invariable 'foul', it was put in straight."

"To sum up, Princeton had the most muscle, but didn't kick very well, and wanted organization. They evidently don't like to kick the ball on the ground. Our men, on the other hand, though comparatively weak, ran well, and kicked well throughout. But their great point was the organization, for which great praise is due to the captain. The right men were always in the right place."

One of the Princeton players, William Preston Lane, in 1933 contended in a newspaper interview that Rutgers "ran us Princeton men out of town. I never found out why they did that," he related. "But we don't ask any questions. When we saw them coming after us, we ran to the outskirts of New Brunswick and got into our carriages and wagons and went away as fast as we could."

Lane's contention is refuted in the Targum account. "After the match the players had an amicable 'feed together,'" the paper reported. "At 8 o'clock our guests went home, in high good spirits, thirsting to beat us next time, if they can."

The Daily Fredonian, a New Brunswick paper of that era, supported the Targum account in its issue of November 9, 1869.

"Through the generous liberality of the students of Rutgers College," the Fredonian reported, "a bountiful entertainment was prepared for our Princeton friends, at the favorite resort in Church Street known as Northrop's where 'mine host' and his estimable lady know how to get up a good supper."

Regardless of what actually happened after the first game, football was here to stay. Rutgers got Columbia University started in the grid sport the following season and in a few years most of the colleges and universities in the East were represented on the gridiron.

The foregoing account of America's first intercollegiate football game was prepared from material obtained from reliable sources. Previous drafts of the account were authenticated by surviving members of the first Rutgers and Princeton teams. The last surviving Princeton player, Robert Preston Lane [Class of 1872] died November 5, 1938. The last surviving Rutgers player, George H. Large [Class of 1872] died in the spring of 1939.

THE BIRTHPLACE OF COLLEGE FOOTBALL

The following article was written by John Bruns, former long-time sports writer for the Home News, and current sports writer for the Easton Express.

When Rutgers defeated Princeton in the first intercollegiate football game ever played in 1869, the setting was quite different than it is today. The game was contested on a field along College Avenue in New Brunswick. There weren't tens of thousands of cheering fans in a multi-million dollar stadium. There was no manicured grass field or electronic scoreboard. There was no elaborate athletic equipment or television cameras. But on that fall day in 1869, those students established a tradition of quality football programs, competitiveness and school spirit that continues at Rutgers, the birthplace of intercollegiate football.

On October 1, 1994, Rutgers celebrated that first team and all the teams that followed, as the 1994 squad played only its third game in the spectacular new Rutgers Stadium, hosting perennial national power Miami.

The game also continued 125 years of historical moments, outstanding athletes and memorable triumphs.

However, those historic moments were difficult to predict during the early years when intercollegiate football scheduling was inconsistent. For example, Rutgers won six of 10 games in 1882, but played only one game in 1885. Similarly, the Scarlet Knights went 8-6 in 1891, but two years later played only four games. By the early 1900's, scheduling had become more consistent and football became more popular across the country.

The eight wins of 1891 weren't matched until Rutgers went 8-1 in 1947 with one of the most successful teams of coach Harvey Harman in the Golden Era immediately following World War II. That team, quarterbacked by Frank Burns, who would later become Rutgers' most successful coach, lost its opener to Columbia and then swept through eight straight opponents.

In 1913, coach George Foster Sanford began a tradition of success among Rutgers coaches in their inaugural year by leading his team to a 6-3 mark. He then flirted with two perfect seasons, improving the team to 7-1 in 1915 and 7-1-1 in 1917. Those two seasons, which featured All-American Paul Robeson, were among Rutgers' best.

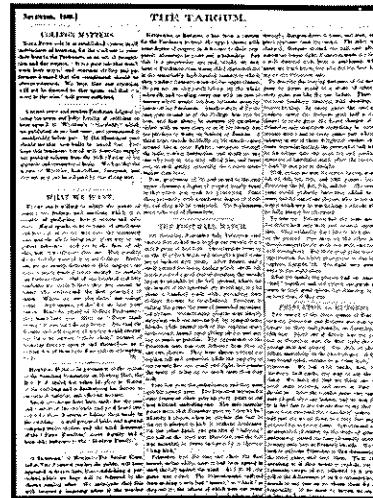

The Scarlet Knights outscored opponents by an average of 44-3 in 1915 and 33-2 in 1917. Sanford, a member of Rutgers' Hall of Fame, also helped to introduce Rutgers to the New York metropolitan area, playing games at the Polo Grounds against teams like Notre Dame, Nebraska, Louisiana State and West Virginia. A few years later, in 1924, two-time All-American end and fullback Homer Hazel helped coach John Wallace continue the tradition of first-year coaching success, as Rutgers posted a 7-1-1 mark.

Harvey Harman also had a successful first season, going 7-1 in 1938, the year Rutgers dedicated the original Rutgers Stadium. Rutgers won the dedication game, 20-18, over Princeton. Harman, however, was replaced by former coach Harry Rockefeller during World War II. His tenure included an 8-1 season in 1947 when Rutgers, dominated by WWII veterans, registered a combined record of 27-7 from 1945-48.

When John Stiegman coached Rutgers from 1956-59, he brought back the single-wing formation to the Scarlet Knight offense, and led Rutgers to an 8-1 mark in 1958. The only loss of that season, 13-12 to the Quantico Marines, came when All-American tailback Billy Austin had to miss a game due to a broken hand.

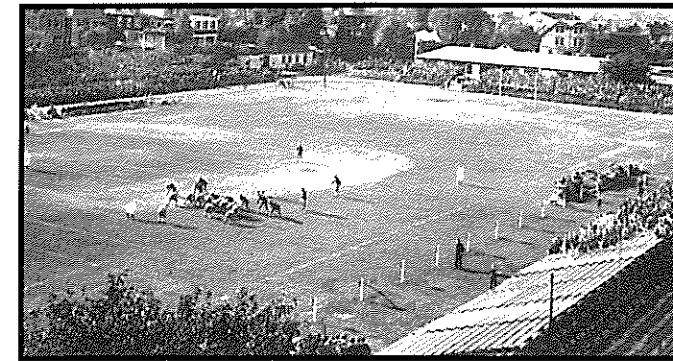

Another first-year coach got off to an impressive start when John Bateman went 8-1 in 1960. That campaign was followed by Rutgers' first undefeated season in 1961, when the team went 9-0, capping the season with a fourth-quarter, 25-point comeback win over Columbia. That team included All-American center Alex Kroll, and was ranked 15th nationally. In his 11 seasons, Bateman led Rutgers to 73 wins in 124 games.

THE BIRTHPLACE OF COLLEGE FOOTBALL

In 1973, Frank Burns took the reins of Rutgers football and became the most successful Rutgers coach ever by building teams recognized for fundamentals and defense. Burns himself was also known as a fierce linebacker and won the Most Valuable Player Award in the 1949 College All-Star game, when he made 17 tackles against the New York Giants. The Burns defenses were led by linebackers Ed Steward, Jim Hughes, Jim Dumont and defensive end Nate Toran. Burns' first team went 6-5, while running back "JJ" Jennings set single-season records for rushing yardage (1,353) and touchdowns (21) that still stand.

Over the next five seasons, Burns' teams won at least seven games each season, including a five-season stretch from 1975-79 when Rutgers' winning percentage was .803 with a record of 45-11. The jewel in the crown of Burns' tenure as Rutgers' coach was the 1976 season, when the team was perfect at 11-0, establishing the best season ever at Rutgers. During Burns' 11 seasons at Rutgers, the Scarlet Knights won nearly two-thirds of their games (78-44). He also took Rutgers to its only bowl appearance, the Garden State Bowl, at Giants Stadium against Arizona State in 1978.

Doubtless, the biggest win of the Burns era was the 13-7 upset of Tennessee on November 3, 1979 at Knoxville. Burns called it "the greatest of my coaching career."

The following year, 1980, Rutgers had one of its great "near-misses" of its long history when the Scarlet bowed, 17-13, to a highly-favored and No. 1-ranked Alabama team coached by Bear Bryant at Giants Stadium. In a post game comment, Bear Bryant said, "We didn't beat Rutgers. All I can say is we won."

In 1984 when Dick Anderson was named head coach, a renewed commitment to football at Rutgers was backed by a $3 million state-funded package. Those funds helped finance the artificial surface practice fields, the practice "Bubble" and the Hale Center, which includes lockerrooms, offices, a weight-training area and medical facilities for the football team.

Anderson won seven of 10 games in his inaugural season. Other highlights of his years at Rutgers include upset wins over such nationally-ranked teams as Penn State and Michigan State, and a nationally-televised victory over Northwestern in the program's 1,000th game. Anderson's teams produced some of the most exciting players in Rutgers history, including record-breaking passer Scott Erney, career tackles leader Tyrone Stowe and career kickoff return leader Eric Young. Anderson's last game at Rutgers, although a loss to Pittsburgh, was a memorable one. It was the 1989 Emerald Isle Classic in Dublin, the first time a Rutgers team played overseas.

Doug Graber became the Scarlet Knights' 23rd coach in 1990 and placed an emphasis on recruiting the best talent in the state of New Jersey. His first recruiting class included three first-team All-State selections and two second-team All-State selections among the 12 recruits from New Jersey.

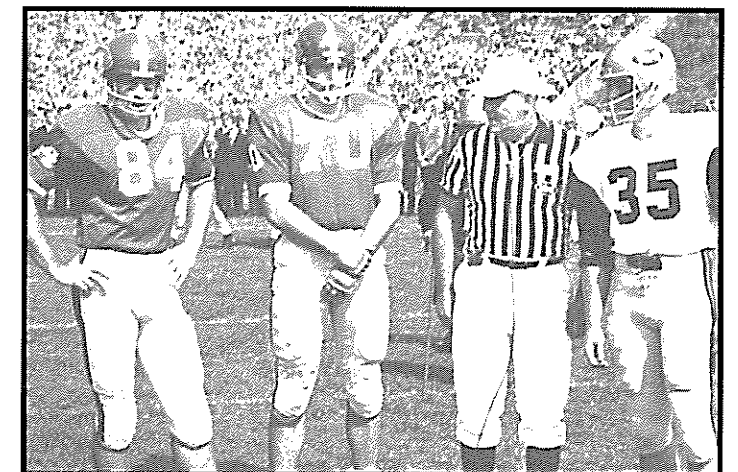

Another major boost for Rutgers came in 1991 when it joined the BIG EAST Football Conference. The team went 13-9 in its first two years in the BIG EAST, including a 4-2 BIG EAST mark in 1992, before slipping to 4-7 the following season.

The 1994 season celebrated not only the 125 years of college football, but also the return of the newly-renovated and expanded Rutgers Stadium.

A new stadium has been quite a different setting than that of the first college football game played over 130 years ago. The Scarlet Knights are playing for their own place in history as they continue the college football tradition that was born "On the Banks of the Old Raritan." After a less than stellar run through the mid-1990's under 1998 BIG EAST coach of the year Terry Shea, the Scarlet Knights opted to take the program in a different direction in 2001.

On December 1, 2000, Director of Athletics Bob Mulcahy introduced the newest coach in the storied history of Rutgers Football - Greg Schiano.

Under Schiano's leadership, 'it's time' for Rutgers Football to regain the nation's attention.

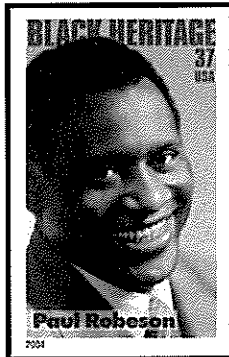

Rutgers Co-Captains Bob Stonebraker (84) and Lee Schneider (70) at the coin toss of the 1969 Centennial Game with Princeton Captain Ellis Moore (35).

COLLEGE FOOTBALL HALL OF FAME

Hall Doors Finally Open For Robeson

The following is an excerpt from the inscription found on Robeson's plaque in the National College Football Hall of Fame in South Bend, Indiana.

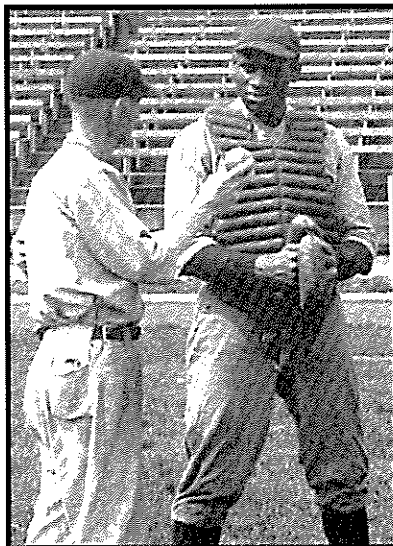

Paul Robeson played four years for the famous coach, G. Foster Sanford. Rutgers had a 22-6-3 record in that time. In 31 games, Rutgers scored 941 points to opponents' 191. Robeson was a powerful contributor to that record....

Robeson was a two-time All-America end. Frank Menke named him All-

America in 1917 and 1918. Walter Camp picked him in 1918. [Camp did not name an All-America team in 1917.] Following college, Robeson played three years as a pro - 1920 with Hammond, 1921 with Akron and 1922 with Milwaukee - in the American Professional Football League.... He obtained his law degree in 1923. At Rutgers, Robeson was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and was valedictorian of the class of 1919. He won the college oratorical contest four straight years and gave the commencement address at graduation. Robeson won 12 letters in four sports - four in football, three each in basketball and baseball, and two in track. He stood 6-3 in height and his weight was listed at 191 in early years, at 215 his senior season. This man of many talents became an actor, singer and lecturer. He was on Broadway and in the movies. His rich basso made his signature song "Ol' Man River" a classic. He starred in plays, such as "The Emperor Jones", "Othello", "Showboat", as well as many others, in the U.S., Europe and Africa. In 1925 he made a record-setting that sold 55,000 copies in four months. In 1972 he received the Whitney Young Memorial Award. Ebony Magazine called him "one of the 10 most important black men in American history."...

Paul Robeson was born April 9, 1898, in Princeton, N.J. His father, Rev. William Robeson, had escaped slavery in 1860 in North Carolina at age 15. His mother, Maria Bustill, was a teacher. When Paul was a high school senior, he won the statewide academic test and received a scholarship to Rutgers. In 1915 he was the third black to enter Rutgers and the first to play football. He died January 23, 1976.

A true renaissance man, Robeson won 12 letters in four sports at Rutgers - four in football, three each in basketball and baseball, and two in track. After his tenure at Rutgers, he became an accomplished actor, singer and lecturer, and was recently commemorated on a US postal stamp.

Kroll is the 6th Rutgers Selection to College Football Hall of Fame

Alex Kroll, a consensus All-American center on Rutgers' first undefeated football team in 1961, is the Scarlet Knights' sixth inductee into the College Football Hall of Fame, as a part of the Class of 1997.

Kroll followed end Paul Robeson, halfback Homer Hazel and coaches George Foster Sanford and Harvey Harman into this most cherished of college football's honors. Former athletic director George Little is also among the all-time honorees.

Kroll, a 6-2, 228-pound center and linebacker, was a major force in Rutgers compiling a 17-1 record in his two years of play "On the Banks." In 1960, the Knights under coach John Bateman were 8-1 and followed up with the school's first undefeated campaign, going 9-0 in 1961. Team captain of the lauded 1961 squad, Kroll was a two-time first-team All-ECAC choice and won first-team All-American honors from Associated Press, United Press International, Newspaper Enterprise Association, Look, and the American Football Coaches Association. Known as a "coach on the field," he was credited with making the quarterback sneak an offensive weapon as Rutgers scored seven TDs on that play in 1961 with Kroll clearing the way into the endzone for the signal-caller.

He was also a first-team All-East choice by the AP in 1961 and played in the North-South game and the Senior Bowl. In 1960, he was an honorable mention All-American. Following his senior season, he was a second-round draft pick of the New York Titans, playing for one season in 1962.

Kroll earned a BA in English Literature in 1962 and was a Henry Rutgers Scholar with a perfect grade point average in his major. He received a National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame Post-Graduate Scholarship in 1961. In 1986, he was awarded the Silver Anniversary Award from the National Collegiate Athletic Association for his collegiate achievements.

Immediately following his last game with the Titans, he joined the work-force at Young & Rubicam, the world's largest independent advertising agency, as a copywriter. After a succession of writing and supervisory jobs in the creative department, he was named executive vice president and worldwide creative director in 1970. He was named president and chief operating officer in 1982 and, four years later, Kroll became chairman of Young & Rubicam. He is retired but still serves as Chairman Emeritus of Young & Rubicam. He resides in Charlotte, VT, with his wife, Phyllis. They have three children.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL HALL OF FAME

HARVEY HARMAN

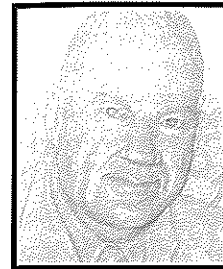

Few men loved the game with the fervor of Harvey Harman, a huge man with a grand smile and a fierce dedication to the sport.

A former president of the American Football Coaches Association, Harman received that group's Amos Alonzo Stagg Award, symbolic of outstanding service to the profession. It was not surprising that Harman achieved such acclaim, for he learned his football lessons from two of the game's mentors - Glenn "Pop" Warner and Jock Sutherland - while at Pittsburgh.

Harman was a starting tackle for the Panthers before taking his first coaching assignment at Haverford. From there he moved on to Sewanee (the University of the South), Pennsylvania and Rutgers.

It was at Rutgers that he had his greatest success, directing the Scarlet Knights to a 26-7-1 record before interrupting his career to serve in the U.S. Navy during World War II.

Harman returned to Rutgers after the war and led the Scarlet Knights for another 10 seasons before accepting a position as Executive Director of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame, Inc. In that capacity, Harman became known as the goodwill ambassador for football, continuing to serve the game until his death in 1969. His career record lists a slate of 140-104-7.

Harvey Harman

Homer Hazel

HOMER HAZEL

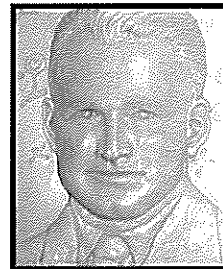

He parted his dark hair down the middle, in the fashion of the day, and his deep-set eyes glowed with a competitive fire. Homer Hazel, Rutgers' first Hall of Famer, was, without doubt, the most versatile player the Scarlet ever produced.

A natural athlete, Hazel excelled in various sports and was most successful as a track and field star. His speed and quickness served him well, for he once recovered his own kickoff in the enemy end zone for a touchdown.

Homer led Rutgers to identical 7-1-1 records in his final two seasons, earning All-America laurels in each. He was an end in 1923, when the only Scarlet loss was to West Virginia (27-7). He had Rutgers on the way to an unbeaten finish in 1924 - this time as a hard-hitting fullback - when Bucknell untracked the Scarlet in the final game of the season, 12-7. During the 1924 campaign, Homer Hazel established school records for most points after a touchdown and longest completed pass.

He could do it all. Carrying 226 pounds over a 5-foot-11 frame, Homer lettered in football, basketball, baseball and track at Rutgers. He later served as Athletic Director, football and basketball coach at the University of Mississippi for more than five years. He was a golf pro for four years, and a labor relations manager for more than 20 years.

Hazel won his first letter in football at Rutgers in 1916. He left school because of a lack of funds. Hazel worked at various jobs and, at age 28, played football again at Rutgers. Walter Camp named him All-America end in 1923, All-America fullback in 1924. Hazel was born June 2, 1895, and died February 3, 1968.

George Little

GEORGE LITTLE

A graduate of Ohio Wesleyan, George Little opened his coaching career at the University of Cincinnati and produced a two-year record of 10-8-0 before moving up the road to Oxford, Ohio, home of the Miami Redskins, in 1916. There, Little brought the Redskins their first Conference Championship and a 7-0-1 mark.

After service in World War I, Little returned to Miami and directed the Red and White to yet another league crown and a three-year post-war record of 20-3-1. He also coached the Miami basketball and track teams, claiming a conference crown in the latter sport.

The 1922 and 1923 seasons found Little at Michigan under head coach Fielding Yost, the man he replaced in 1924. That year, Little's Wolverines were 6-2. The next season, Little was in Wisconsin as the new Athletic Director and head coach of the Badgers, and he led his charges to a two-year mark of 11-3-2. His teams displayed imagination and strength on offense, a unique ruggedness on defense.

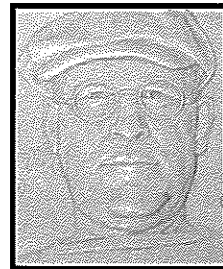

Little wound up his collegiate career as the Athletic Director at Rutgers, and then served as executive secretary of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame.

GEORGE FOSTER SANFORD

At the entrance to Rutgers Stadium, inscribed upon a bronze plaque, is a tribute to George Sanford. It was financed and installed by his players, the men "...he inspired to deeds beyond themselves."

Undoubtedly, Sanford was an inspirational leader of men, a gentleman who excelled as both player and coach. Sanford played center on the 1891 and 1892 Yale teams which held each of their 26 opponents scoreless. Though he was never chosen to an All-America team, a 1927 poll named him the all-time Yale center.

Sanford began his coaching career at Columbia (1899-1901), called in to revive the football program which had been abandoned after the 1891 campaign. His 1899 team defeated Yale for the first time ever, and it was at Columbia that Sanford developed the famous "Flying Hurdle Play" which saw Harold Weekes catapulted over the scrimmage line. Moving to Rutgers (1913-23), Sanford had marked success as his club rolled to a 56-32-5 record. He was hailed as a "miracle worker" in 1917, after his Rutgers team beat the heavily-favored Newport Naval Reserve All-Stars, 14-0. Between his teams at Columbia and Rutgers, Sanford devoted his energy toward a successful insurance brokerage business.

Bill Austin

HEISMAN CANDIDATE BILL AUSTIN

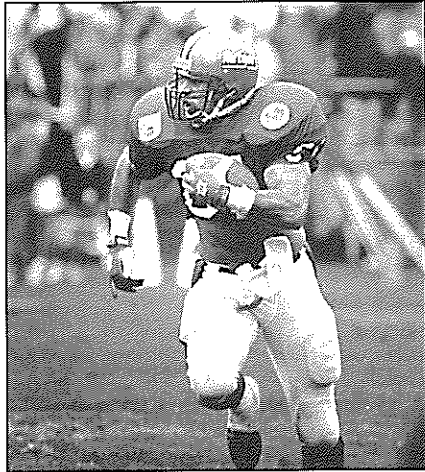

Bill Austin, a Fanwood, NJ native and graduate of nearby Scotch Plains-Fanwood High School, captured the imagination of the college football community in the late 1950's. His twisting, elusive running style helped him lead the Scarlet Knights in rushing for three straight seasons.

Not blessed with great size at 5-11, 170, the speedy Austin amassed 2,073 yards rushing and scored 204 points. He was a prototype single-wing tailback who, in his day, had few peers. His 32-touchdown career ranks second in the Rutgers annals among all-time scorers and he had 13 interceptions from his defensive back position, which is one short of the all-time mark.

A member of the inaugural Rutgers Football Hall of Fame Class in 1988, Austin was a first-team AP All-American selection in 1958. The 1958 Rutgers football media guide referred to Austin as "a natural leader with an even temperament."

The Scarlet's team captain in 1958, Austin led Rutgers to an 8-1 record with the lone blemish being a 13-12 defeat at the hands of the Quantico Marines. Rutgers fans from this era will recall that Austin was forced to sit out the Quantico Marines game with a hand injury. The Scarlet's first undefeated season came in 1961. The 1976 team also posted a perfect record. If not for an injury suffered by the team's best player, 1958 may have been Rutgers' first undefeated season.

An honorable mention All-American lacrosse player for two seasons, Austin was selected by the Washington Redskins in the 1959 NFL draft.

Marco Battaglia

ALL-AMERICAN MARCO BATTAGLIA

In 1993, Marco Battaglia caught 27 passes. In 1994, that number swelled to 58. By 1995, he was being hailed as the nation's best tight end. Following a 69-catch, 894-yard, 10-touchdown season in 1995, there was no longer a debate as to who was the nation's best.

He was a consensus First-Team All-America, having earned first-team honors by the Football Writer's Association, the Walter Camp Foundation, the Associated Press and the American College Football Coaches Association and appeared on the Bob Hope Christmas Special. Battaglia was also named the BIG EAST Offensive Player of the Year. He played in the prestigious East-West Shrine Game.

The signature game of his career came at Giants Stadium against Penn State. In a game televised nationally by ESPN, Battaglia showed the nation what he was all about. He grabbed a school-record tying 13 catches for 184 yards (third-best all-time at RU) and scored three touchdowns.

Combining speed, strength and the heart of a lion, this 6-3, 245-pounder was the second tight end taken in the 1996 NFL draft, a second-round draft choice of the Cincinnati Bengals.

For his career, Battaglia finished with a school record 171 receptions for 2,221 yards, a figure which places him second on the all-time list. His seven 100-yard plus receiving games is also a Rutgers record.

Alex Kroll

ALL-AMERICAN ALEX KROLL

The great Alex Kroll took a rather circuitous path on his way to Rutgers football stardom. The 6-2, 228-pound center excelled for two seasons at Yale before serving two years in the Army. After forming a friendship with 1957 Scarlet co-captain Art Robinson at Fort Campbell, Kentucky, Kroll transferred to Rutgers.

The Leechburg, PA, native immediately gained the notice of the Rutgers coaching staff with his physical prowess, an asset that was only overshadowed by his keen intellect. The captain of the undefeated 1961 team, Kroll's senior biography in the 1961 Rutgers football media guide included the following anecdote: "his performance and leadership in 1960 helped Rutgers to a season which surpassed even the most optimistic of the previews. He has size, speed, hustle, and an uncanny ability to call defenses best equipped to stop the enemy."

It is no small coincidence that, in his two years "On the Banks," the Scarlet Knights amassed a 17-1 record. An AP first-team All-American in 1961, Kroll, who was also a top-notch linebacker, was regarded as the finest center in the nation. A draft choice of the AFL's New York Titans, Kroll had a brief professional football career. However, his uncanny intelligence, leadership qualities and savvy, traits that he honed on the gridiron, have served him well in his long and prosperous business career.

A Henry Rutgers Scholar with a perfect grade-point average, Kroll served as the president and CEO of Young and Rubicam, the world's largest advertising company, and credits much of his success to his football days at Rutgers.

Kroll was a member of the inaugural Rutgers Football Hall of Fame Class of 1988, and was also selected to the College Football Hall of Fame.

Following the 1992 campaign, the Tyrone, PA native was named First Team All-ECAC and All East (Second Team) by the Associated Press. Swayne was taken in the ninth round of the 1987 NFL draft by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers and proceeded to play 15 seasons in the NFL. He played with the Bucs (1987-90), Chargers (1991-96), Broncos (1997-98), Ravens (1999-2000) and Dolphins (2001). Class of 1949
Sivess (B.S. '49; M.A., Education, '50) was a long-time member of the Rutgers University athletic department, serving on the athletic training staff from 1946 to 1984. He was appointed the head athletic trainer in 1965 and worked with the football program during the 1960's and 1970's, including the team's undefeated seasons in 1961 and 1976. As a student-athlete at Rutgers, Sivess earned 10 varsity letters (two in football and four each in basketball and baseball), helping the basketball team to a 13-7 mark in 1945-46 and the football team to a combined 12-4 mark in 1945-46. A native of South River, he also served as the golf coach at Rutgers from 1973-1982, guiding the team to an undefeated season in 1979. He was a Navy veteran of World War II.
Shawn Williams

Williams was an All-BIG EAST as well as All-East (Associated Press) selection at outside linebacker following his senior season in 1992. A captain that year, Williams helped lead Rutgers to a 7-4 record, including a 4-2 mark in BIG EAST play. He began his career in 1989, and was in on 34 tackles, the most by a freshman that season. As a sophomore in 1990, he was third on the team with 60 tackles, including a career-high 16 in a win over Army. In 1991, Williams was among the top linebackers in the East, registering 79 tackles, second-best on the team, and leading the BIG EAST with 13 sacks for minus 78 yards. As a senior, Williams capped his standout career with 69 tackles, giving him 242 in his career which, at the time of his graduation, ranked him among the top linebackers to ever play at Rutgers. His 21 career quarterback sacks rank fourth in school history.

CLASS OF 2001 INDUCTEES

Steve Tardy
Class of 1990
Steve Tardy arrived at Rutgers in the fall of 1985 after a standout scholastic career at nearby Hillsborough High School. Following a red-shirt season, he turned in a productive and durable Scarlet Knight career from 1986-89. He was a standout guard on some of the finest offensive teams in Scarlet Knight history that were led at quarterback by fellow RU Football Hall of Fame member Scott Erney. Quiet and unassuming, the 6-5, 273-pound Tardy was a perfectionist both on the football field and in the classroom. He was a 1988 AP All-American (honorable mention), and earned All-East honors from 1987-89. Tardy won the David Bender Trophy in 1987 and 1989 as the team's top offensive lineman, and in 1988 and 1989, he won the Upstream Award as the team's top student-athlete. A civil engineering major, his efforts were also recognized on the national level as he was a CoSIDA-GTE second-team Academic All-American in 1989 and a 1989 National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame Scholar-Athlete.

He led the Scarlet Knights in receiving yards as a junior with 364 yards and as a senior with 592, which was the fifth-highest total at the time of his graduation. On special teams, Young returned 64 punts, which served as the top mark at the time. He also graduated fourth on the all-time all-purpose yardage list with 2,928 and, at the time of time of his induction, ranked eighth. Class of 1979
An AP All-East (HM) selection in 1978 as a fullback, Kehler gained 2,567 rushing yards in his career (the most by a RU fullback). Kehler was a three-year starter, and helped lead Rutgers to a 28-6 mark over that span. He was the team's leading rusher in 1976, 1977 and 1978. He ranks fifth in career carries with 537, and averaged 4.8 yards per career in his career. This sturdy back had five 100-yard games in his career. Leggett served as captain of the first Rutgers football team. While many of the Rutgers and Princeton players were socializing before the inaugural game on November 6, 1869, Leggett and the Princeton captain, William S. Gummere, developed the afternoon's rules of play. Under Leggett's leadership and tactical guidance, the Scarlet eked out a 6-4 victory. Leggett later became a distinguished clergyman of the Dutch Reformed Church.

Harry Rockafeller, Class of 1916

Head Coach (1927-30, 42-45) / Director of Athletics (1953-61)

"Rocky" recorded a 33-26 overall mark. One of the founders of the Eastern Intercollegiate Lightweight Football League, he coached the 150-pounders between 1933 and 1937, posting a 22-3-1 record. Associated with the university in various capacities for nearly 40 years, the 1915 All-American end served as director of athletics between 1953 and 1961. He is a member of the National College Football Hall of Fame.

George Foster Sanford Head Coach (1913-23)

Sanford was elected to the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame in 1971. A legend for his innovations and strategies, he also coached at Columbia at the turn of the century and is remembered with a plaque at Rutgers Stadium for his lasting influence on the character of his players. From 1913-1923, he led Rutgers to a fine 56-32-5 record. This period is recognized in Rutgers sports lore as the "Sanford Era."

Howard Parker Talman Class of 1916

"Tel" captained the 1915 Rutgers squad and scored a single-game record of 48 points on six touchdowns and 12 extra points against RPI. That season, he scored 138 total points, at the time, a Scarlet record. On various All-America teams, Talman was recognized as a guard in 1913, as a halfback in 1914, and as a fullback in 1915. The versatile athlete played professionally for the Detroit Herald and the Massillon Tigers.

CLASS OF 1988 INDUCTEES

William W. Austin Class of 1959

A first-team All-American in 1958, Austin, though diminutive at 5-11, 170, amassed 2,073 yards and scored 204 points as he led the Scarlet in rushing for three years from his single-wing tailback spot. His 32 touchdowns ranked second among the all-time scorers and he had 13 interceptions. Austin was also a two-time honorable mention lacrosse All-American at Rutgers.

Homer H. Hazel Class of 1925

Hazel was elected to the National Football Hall of Fame in 1951. He won All-America honors in 1923 as an end and repeated in 1924 as a fullback. The father of three children, "Pop" was an honor society member, President of his class and performed Bunyan-esque feats on the field. Hazel was elected posthumously and the Rutgers Team MVP is named in his honor.

Alexander Kroll Class of 1962

An All-American at center and linebacker in 1961, Kroll led the Scarlet to its first undefeated season in 1961 (9-0) and spearheaded a two-season mark of 17-1. He was known for his smarts, toughness and savvy in the trenches. A Henry Rutgers Scholar with a perfect grade-point average, Kroll was the president and CEO of Young and Rubicam, the world's largest advertising agency.

George E. Little Director of Athletics (1932-53)

Little was inducted into the coaching ranks of the National Football Hall of Fame in 1955. He coached at four colleges, including Michigan and Wisconsin, before coming to Rutgers where he was the dynamic force in the construction of the original Rutgers Stadium. Little was elected posthumously.

Robert A. Nash Class of 1916

Known as "Nasty," Nash was named to Walter Camp's 1914 second-team All-America list during his junior season and went on to a superb, 10-year professional career. In 1921, he was traded by Akron to Buffalo in the first such NFL transaction and later had the distinction of being the first captain of the New York Giants in 1925. Nash was elected posthumously.

William Pellington Class of 1952

A versatile player for the Scarlet for two years, Pellington earned major acclaim as a 12-year member of the Baltimore Colts. Pellington was the Colts' starting inside linebacker in the famous 1958 NFL Championship game, which saw Baltimore defeat the Giants in overtime at Yankee Stadium. Also a member of the 1959 World Champion Colt squad, he played through the 1964 season, when the Colts again went to the title game, however, losing to Cleveland.

Paul L. Robeson Class of 1919

A 12-time letterwinner at Rutgers, Robeson was chosen an All-American in 1918 by Walter Camp, who called him the greatest end to "ever trod the gridiron." The second-highest ranking student in his graduating class, he was the first Rutgers player chosen a first-team All-American. After receiving a law degree from Columbia, Robeson went on to become a world reknown singer, athlete and social leader.

Nathaniel Toran Class of 1977

A third-team All-American in 1975, Toran was a second team choice in 1976 and a Kodak first-team All-American when he led the Scarlet to an undefeated season. He captained a defensive unit that topped the nation in three defensive categories and his 52 sacks in three seasons is still a school record.

David A. "Sonny" Werblin Class of 1931

The former president of the Rutgers Foundation, Werblin launched his business career as a freelance newspaper reporter while still a student and went on to become president of the Music Corporation of America from 1952 until 1965. After serving as president of the New York Jets until 1968, he was the guiding light of the New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority for seven years and then took over the leadership of Madison Square Garden in 1978.

RUTGERS STADIUM

The following excerpt came from the game program of the first game played in the New Rutgers Stadium, on September 3, 1994. Written by former Sports Information Director Bob Smith, this story chronicles the history of Rutgers Football and the stadium(s) it called home.

Far removed from midwestern corn fields where Hollywood created a baseball dream, Rutgers realized a football dream when the new Rutgers Stadium opened for the 1994 season.

The completion of the stadium, expanded to accommodate 41,500 fans, coincided neatly with the celebration of the 125th year of the game which, Rutgers and Princeton inaugurated in 1869.

The new stadium, financed by a New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority bond issue proposal, which was approved by the legislature and then Governor Jim Florio in January of 1992, was kicked off officially on March 9, 1993.

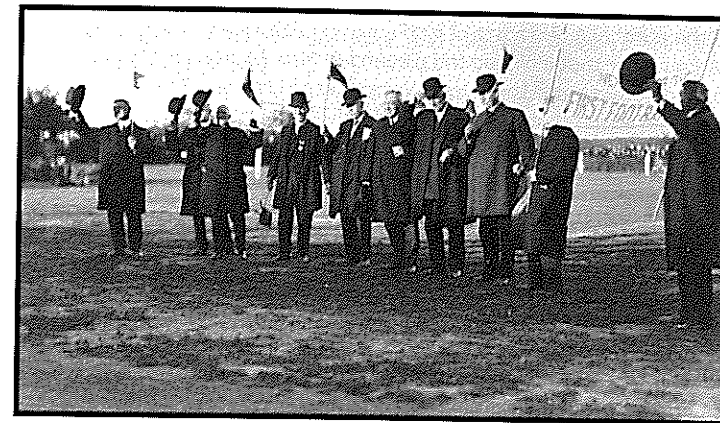

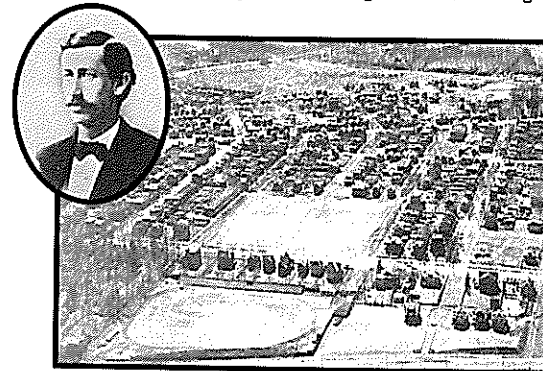

The historic groundbreaking ceremony drew over 500 as a host of state dignitaries spoke glowingly of the meaning for the University and the state. The stadium project would include expansion to nearly 42,000 seats with all the amenities of a first-class facility. Permanent lights, lit to a level of 150 foot-candles, will make possible night games and television broadcast. A two-tiered press box seats over 200. The main concourse includes eight concession stands and the stadium will be equipped with a state-of-the-art sound system. A huge, new scoreboard towers over the south endzone.

AT THE GROUNDBREAKING CEREMONY, THEN-GOVERNOR JIM FLORIO SAID "THERE IS NO DOUBT THAT WHAT IS GOOD FOR RUTGERS IS GOOD FOR NEW JERSEY."

Rutgers president Francis L. Lawrence noted that "this grand old stadium...has been of great service to the people of New Jersey and this new project will provide 800 jobs in New Jersey. New Jersey is a great state that deserves the best in every aspect, in every area, including athletics." Athletic Director Fred Gruninger called the event a "real happening."

One hundred and twenty-five years ago on November 6, 1869, Rutgers and Princeton played the first intercollegiate football game in New Brunswick on College Field, which is now the site of the College Avenue Gymnasium and its parking lot. And, while Rutgers won that initial contest, 6-4, Princeton would dominate the early days of this intrastate rivalry.

The Tigers won the second game at home a week later and went on to win the next 24 games through 1897, holding the Scarlet Knights scoreless in 22 of the 25 victories. Getting together again in 1915. A leap of 18 years, a tumultuous time in this country's history, elapsed before the next meeting, but the pattern did not change as Princeton took the 1933, 1935, 1936 and 1937 games, all on its home grounds, as were all but six of the 34 games.

Those six games had been played at the site of the original game, College Field, where contests were staged through 1891, after which Neilson Field became the home of the Scarlet until 1938.

The stage was set for "the game that would live forever" (according to Jimmie Fleming, sports editor of the New Brunswick Home News) and a game that a New York news commentator rated one of the four principal historical events of 1938, along with the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia, the Munich agreement and the wars in China and Spain. But, the story began a few years earlier.

Through the presidency of John Martin Thomas (1925-30) and the brief 18-month tenure of Philip Milledoler Brett, Rutgers experienced a severe identity crisis. "For a quarter of a century," wrote historian Richard P. McCormick, "Rutgers had been in the throes of transformation from a small college to a multi-dimensional university, from an essentially private institution to an instrumentality of the state." That drama would continue even while the athletic picture began to improve. It would play itself out against a background generally called the Great Depression.

ROBERT C. CLOTHIER WAS NAMED PRESIDENT IN DECEMBER, 1931, AND GEORGE E. LITTLE BECAME THE ATHLETIC DIRECTOR IN APRIL, 1932. IT IS WITH THESE TWO VISIONARIES THAT THE STORY OF RUTGERS STADIUM BEGINS.

Both saw that the effectiveness of the instruction in physical education was being seriously hampered by lack of space and deteriorating facilities. Neilson Field, the football home site that had replaced College Field and the home of the Rutgers football since 1892, was in disrepair. Though indoor facilities were sufficient (College Avenue Gymnasium was completed in January 1932 and held athletic contests as well as a concert by Paul Robeson ('19) but if the overall program was to be strengthened, space had to be found.

Feeling that the University had weathered the initial phases of the Depression, Clothier dispatched Little on a survey of suitable land and on November 7, 1934, the determined athletic director recommended the purchase of a tract of land covering 256 acres across the Raritan River that included the disbanded New Brunswick Country Club golf course and the Adrian Vermeule properties. The Board of Trustees, noting that it was a daring move, nevertheless adopted the proposal and bought the land for less than $100,000.

Though the stadium area, a natural ravine, was included in the purchase, the original proposal did not include construction of a stadium. The development of the area would provide recreational areas for students and considerable acreage for future needs. The Federal government approved an initial grant of $320,000 on November 13, 1935, and work men began the enormous job of developing the River Road campus. The project was to carry a cost of $418,514 with the University contributing $98,390. It would provide work for 387 workers for one year.

A year later, November, 1936, a second Works Progress Administration grant of $143,841 was approved with Rutgers adding $107,530. In January, 1938, an additional grant of $237,000 was made by the WPA which brought the total of the three grants to $995,707 while Rutgers had appropriated $239,000, including the cost of the site.

All this played out against the background of the Depression. Franklin D. Roosevelt's Second New Deal had created the Works Progress Administration, a massive relief program that derived from the administration's belief that "human dignity was diminished under direct relief programs but enriched by programs that provided work in exchange for relief."

Though controversial, the WPA program was far more comprehensive than earlier relief efforts. The program would spend more than $411 billion before it was canceled in 1943. According to historian Edward Ellis, the WPA, employing more than 8.5 million people on nearly a million and a half projects, "built 651,087 miles of highways, roads and streets; constructed, repaired or improved 124,031 bridges; erected 124,110 public buildings; created 8,192 public parks; built or improved 853 airports."

The "big mud hole," after three years of construction and an even longer period of research and planning, was a transformed marvel. The Class of 1939, dubbed "The Stadium Class," would honor Little by dedicating its yearbook to him. The dedication reads, in part: "We acclaim all that George Little has done - Sponsored large-scale intramurals to provide 'athletics for all' - conceived and developed a vast athletic plant...traveled, dreamed, and fought for Rutgers...thoughtful, creative, impulsive, dynamic, generous - bubbling over with ideas and enthusiasm - unflagging in labor and effort - a champion of progress." A plaque in Little's honor would later adorn the stadium entrance beneath the press box.

The 1938 season would open not only with a new stadium but also with a new coach. Upon the resignation of J. Wilder Tasker, who had been the head coach since 1931, Harvey Harman took over the reins. Arriving from the University of Pennsylvania, one of his first efforts, in concert with President Clothier and athletic director Little, was to have Princeton agree to shift the game from Palmer Stadium. The Tigers had not visited the Rutgers campus since 1888 and a span of 17 games, but they agreed to make the short trip on November 5, the seventh game of the season for the Scarlet.

The Rutgers-Princeton clash would come one day short of the 69 years since the historic first intercollegiate game between the teams. It would fall also on Harman's 38th birthday.

Rutgers opened the season with four games on Neilson Field defeating Marietta (20-0) and Vermont (15-14) before losing to NYU (25-6) and then edging Springfield, 6-0. The first game in the new stadium was against Hampden-Sydney before an estimated crowd of 10,000. Rutgers took an early 7-0 lead on a Burt Hasbrouck two-yard run and Len Cooke added the extra point for the first scores in the stadium. The game's most exciting play came after the Scarlet took a 26-0 halftime lead. Art Gottlieb hit Moon Mullen on a short pass at the Rutgers 43-yard line and the senior end raced 57 yards for the game's final score. A Hampden-Sydney threat was turned away on a Gottlieb interception in the Scarlet end zone at the end of the third period and the final score was Rutgers 32, Hampden-Sydney 0.

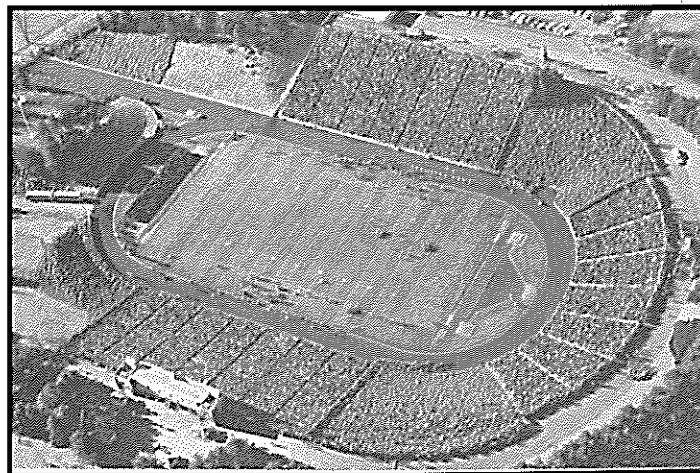

At halftime of the Dedication game, Judge George H. Lane, the sole Rutgers survivor of the first contest in 1869, would be honored. On a sad note, William Preston Lane, the only Princeton survivor of the first game, passed away that very morning.

The first-half play, before a crowd of 22,500, had been as masterful as the words. But, in the halftime dressing room, the Scarlet squad, at an 18-13 deficit, wondered if the 69-year-old jinx would continue to hold. One writer's account of the game imagined that "Over them hung the most grotesque hoodoo in the history of football."

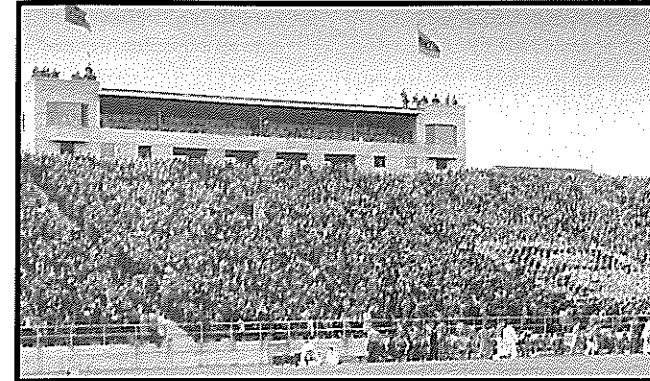

Down 18-7, Rutgers stormed back as Herm Greif, who had worked on the WPA crew three years before, replaced Gottlieb and quickly completed a pass to Joe Varju who was tackled at the Princeton one-yard line with just 59 seconds remaining in the half. After three passes, Greif ran for the score to bring the Scarlet to within five points at halftime.

The day deserved a storybook ending and that was to follow. Princeton penetrated to the Rutgers 15-yard line in the third period but the drive was stopped by the Scarlet. The game's golden moment came with five minutes remaining. Rutgers center Doug Hotchkiss recovered a Princeton fumble at the Tiger 12. But, in two plays, Rutgers had lost 10 yards. Gottlieb and Tranavitch combined on a nine-yard pass completion and, on fourth down, Gottlieb found Mullen at the goal line for the go-ahead score. The extra point by Walt Bruyere was good, Rutgers had taken a 20-18 lead.

The ensuing Princeton possession saw the Tigers take to the air, but Mullen shut down the drive at the Rutgers 30 with an interception. That left time for only a last line plunge and the game was over, the hex was gone. Rutgers had defeated Princeton for the first time in 69 years.

RUTGERS STADIUM

The 1938 Dedication game was certainly of storybook stature, but there have been many more that rival that first contest.

None more so, perhaps, than that on another Princeton visit. Never has there been such preparation for a game in Rutgers Stadium that there was for the Centennial contest in 1969. All the elements of great sports drama were there - proclamations were issued; a special commemorative stamp was issued; a re-enactment of the first game drew 10,000 fans; pennants from some 350 football-playing colleges waved above the stands; an unscheduled protest march by Afro-Americans; introductions of celebrities, including the

THE GARDEN STATE BOWL

Prior to the Garden State Bowl, there had been only a few attempts to stage a post-season bowl game in the Northeast because of unpredictable weather conditions in mid- or late-December. The Liberty Bowl was started in 1960 in Philadelphia and was staged there through 1964, then moved indoors in Atlantic City in 1965 before going to warmer climates in Memphis, Tenn., in 1966. The Gotham Bowl was held in the Polo Grounds in 1961, with Baylor defeating Utah State, 24-9, and, in its second try in 1962 in Yankee Stadium, Nebraska defeated Miami, 36-34, reportedly in 17-degree weather.

But, on Dec. 16, 1978, the thermometer in Giants Stadium read an unseasonable 40 degrees. And, despite the pre-game hope by the Rutgers squad that it would be much colder as it entertained an Arizona State team accustomed to playing in warm weather, Rutgers was hot at the start.

On the next Arizona State possession, Bob Hynoski intercepted a Mark Malone pass and raced 36 yards to the Sun Devil four-yard line. The count might have gone to 17-0 but Dorn fumbled at the two and the visitors took over.

oldest living Rutgers football captain, William VB Van Dyck and Master of Ceremonies, Ozzie Nelson; the coin toss, or rather the three coin tosses, first with a 1869 silver dollar and then with a pair of Centennial medallions.

The game would be the first Rutgers home football contest ever televised as Chris Schenkel and Bud Wilkinson manned the ABC booth.

A crowd of 31,000 was on hand for the game, the largest in Scarlet history to that point, and later eclipsed only by the 31,219 for the Rutgers-Temple game in 1988, a Homecoming affair.

Princeton provided the game's opening salvo as Robinson Bordley returned the kickoff 63 yards to the Scarlet 24-yard line. Rutgers successfully repulsed the attack. Both teams missed field goal tries, but, after an interference call at midfield, Rutgers took a 7-0 lead on Rich Policastro's rollout and Chris Stewart's PAT near the end of the first period. The Scarlet upped the lead to 21-0 by halftime on a Bruce Van Ness TD and Bob Stonebraker's reception from Policastro.

Rutgers scored again on a 27-yard Mike Yanceff-to-Joe Barone pass, and, because the goal posts had already been dismantled, the Scarlet scored on a two-point conversion by Yanceff. The 29 points were the highest ever recorded by a Rutgers team against Princeton. The victory was Rutgers 10th in the 60-game series. The teams would go into their second centuries, once again having made football history.

Unable to add to the lead, Rutgers gave up the ball at the Scarlet 44 with 1:53 remaining in the half and the Sun Devils got on the scoreboard when Malone hit Bob Weathers in the end zone from the 14. A play earlier, Malone was trapped on a fourth and 10 play but shook loose to connect for a first down. Instead of 17-0 or 10-0, it was a 10-7 game at the half.

Malone tossed 26 and 47-yard touchdowns in the third period to MVP John Mistler and Chris DeFrance to give Arizona State a 21-10 lead in the third period and ran in from the one early in the final frame for a 28-10 lead.

Lethargic for a period and a half, Rutgers rebounded with 5:49 left in the game when Ted Blackwell scored on a five-yard run and then caught a two-point conversion pass from Ed McMichael.

"They were on their way to a nice, neat orderly finish," wrote syndicated columnist Jerry Izenberg. "And then, Kennan Startzell kicked the ball.

"Mechanically, it was the perfect squibbler. It had been done on a million football fields and when it works the kicking team recovers. The ball bounced off of Arizona State's Morris Williams...it bounced off of Rutgers' Mark Freeman...it skidded under the belly of Arizona State's Henry Pollard and came to rest underneath Rutgers' Craig Nielsen - in the Arizona State endzone. This is not unlike bunting for a home run.

"One official signalled touchdown - six points for Rutgers. A second apparently signalled touchdown - Arizona's ball on its own 20. A third signalled toward the heavens with outstretched hands, which according to the annotated NCAA Hymnal and Prayer Book means: Why me, O Lord?

"But, back upfield lay a yellow flag. Rutgers was said to have been offside on the kickoff and that ruling held. Instead of a 28-24 count and a possible 28-26 ballgame, the score reverted to 28-18 with 4:44 to go. In the game's final minute, Malone scored on a four-yard run for the closing 34-18 scoreboard count.

The weather had cooperated, the 33,402 fans had had their fill, the ball had nearly bounced in Rutgers' favor and it was a devil of a day. The Garden State Bowl would continue for three more years and would give way to the current post-season classic format.

CREDENTIALS - All members of the media covering a game in a working capacity must seek appropriate credentials in advance from the Office of Athletic Communications for all home games. We appreciate receiving these requests as early as possible. Requests for working space in the press box and photo passes for the sidelines will be honored from sports editors of daily and weekly newspapers and sports directors of television stations only. Requests for working credentials must be made in advance in writing on company letterhead to Athletic Communications. Working media only will be admitted and the code of conduct of the Football Writer's Association of America is strictly enforced.

PHOTO CREDENTIALS - All freelance photographers who request credentials must agree to supply no less than ten photos for each game in attendance. Photos must be digital files, and must be given to the Office of Athletic Communications no later than the start of the next home game, unless otherwise agreed upon.

PARKING - Parking is located next to the Bubble, across the street from Rutgers Stadium. You should request your parking at the same time you request your game credential. If time permits, both will be mailed to you. There is no day-of-game media parking list and therefore members of the media must have a media parking credential in advance of the game or make arrangements with the Office of Athletic Communications.

PRESS BOX SERVICES - Complete NCAA statistics, play-by-play, and quote sheets from both teams are all regular services on game day. Upon your arrival, you will receive a press folder with game program, flip card, updated stats and game day notes.

POST-GAME INTERVIEWS - Coach and players, following the designated cooling off period, will be made available after each game to members of the media. All interviews for both teams take place in the Hale Center, which is located opposite the playing field from the press box. With approximately two minutes remaining the game, members of the media will be escorted across the field towards the Hale Center.

PHONES - A limited number of courtesy phones are available in the press box at Rutgers Stadium. The phones are all operator-assisted calls, or third-party billing calls can be made. Should you wish to have a phone installed at Rutgers Stadium, contact Verizon at 1-800-564-9911 or 9922.

PLAYER INTERVIEWS - All player interviews must be arranged through Athletic Communications at least one day in advance. Players are available in person on Tuesdays at the Weekly Rutgers Football Luncheon, and following practice, and Wednesdays following practice, pending class schedules/availability. Please consult with Athletic Communications regarding availability. Player availability at other times will vary from week to week. A time mutually convenient for the player and the member of the media can be set up by the Office of Athletic Communications. During the game week, there will be no player interviews after Wednesday until following the game.

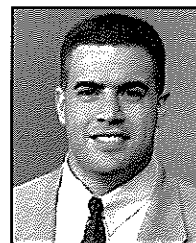

COACH SCHIANO INTERVIEWS - All interview requests must be arranged through Athletic Communications. Coach Schiano will be available to the media every Monday on the BIG EAST Coaches Conference call, Tuesday at the weekly Rutgers Football Luncheon and after practice on Tuesday and Wednesday.

PRACTICE COVERAGE - Please contact the Athletic Communications Office for practice coverage guidelines. Any request to cover practice must be made at least 24 hours in advance.

HIGHLIGHTS - Highlights of all Rutgers home games and selected road games will be made available to the networks at ABC, CBS and NBC. The newsfeeds are designated News One (ABC), Newsfeed (CBS) and A-News (NBC). Each network will make two minutes of highlights available to all affiliates. Call the Office of Athletic Communications (732) 445-4200, for further information.

For Travel Information, please contact the Rutgers Office of Athletic Communications.

All Rutgers football games will be broadcast over the Rutgers Radio Network via 50,000 watt WOR 710 AM and Central Jersey's WCTC 1450 AM.

BAND AND CHEERLEADING

The Rutgers spirit groups are an integral part of gameday at Rutgers Stadium! With one of the top marching bands in the nation, and nationally-recognized cheer and dance teams, Rutgers Football has outstanding support at every event.

WHY SCARLET? WHY KNIGHTS?

WHY SCARLET?

Rutgers was a pioneer in establishing a college color, and a pioneer in using a color on the field of sport.

The color scarlet was first proposed in the campus newspaper, The Targum, in May, 1869. It was adopted shortly thereafter. This color was chosen because it is a striking color and because a good scarlet ribbon could be easily obtained. From the time of its choice by the students, scarlet has been the Rutgers color.

College and university colors and coats of arms were not unusual in the old world but had been little-used in the new world. They came into large and vivid use only when athletics began to take rigorous hold in this country.

In the historic first collegiate football game on November 6, 1869, the Princeton team members watched the Rutgers men don turbans and kerchiefs as close to scarlet as possible for team identification.

Even without scarlet shirts, the headgear alone had added another "first," the custom of wearing caps of a team's college, one long-copied over the years of football uniform development.

Sports lore at Rutgers has also known terms such as "Scarlet Scourge" and the lasting "Upstream Rutgers!" from the first "big-time" grid venture under George Foster Sanford.

Through the years, scarlet has become embodied in the literature and songs of the college. Scarlet is identified with its sons and daughters, and is highly emblematic of the college itself.

WHY KNIGHTS?

Since its days when the school was officially known as Queen's College, the athletic teams were referred to as the Queensmen. Officially serving as mascot figure for several football seasons beginning in 1925 was a giant, colorfully felt-covered, costumed representation of an earlier campus symbol, the "Chanticleer." Though a fighting bird of the kind with which other colleges have found success, to some it bore the connotation of "chicken." It is also a little-known fact that the New Brunswick-based broadcast station, WCTC, which serves as the flagship station of Rutgers athletics, had its call letters derived from the word "ChanTicleer." Chanticleer remained as the mascot and Queensmen as the nickname for some 30 years.

In the early 1950's, in the hope of spurring both the all-around good athletic promise and RU fighting spirit, a campus-wide selection process changed the mascot to that of a Knight.

By 1955, the Scarlet Knight had become the new Rutgers mascot. The Scarlet-garbed knight, riding a spirited white charger, came to represent a new era - the rejuvenation of first class football "On the Banks."
